Fight To Finish Looms In Building Strike

Canadian Naval Flier Killed As Planes Collide

HALIFAX (CP)—A Canadian navy pilot was killed and his plane smashed to bits when it struck harbor water here today after a mid-air collision with another plane.

Name of the pilot will be announced as soon as his next-of-kin have been notified.

A naval air station official said that three Seafire fighters from the nearby Eastern Passage air station were drilling over the harbor this aftenoon when the collision occurred.

They started to change formation to line astern when the propeller of a plane piloted by Lieut. J. G. S. Campbell of Weymouth, N.S., sheared off the tail of the leading plane causing it to crash into the harbor near George's Island.

The third plane in the formation piloted by Lieut. J. P. Cote of Quebec City, remained over the spot until crash boats arrived.

Meanwhile Campbell, in the news recently when he crash-landed his plane near Seaforth, N.S., guided his battered plane into a long glide and safely landed it at the base. Campbell's propeller was splintered.

With the arrival of the high-speed rescue launch at the spot where the first aircraft plunged into the sea, Lieut. Cote was ordered back to base.

A flotilla of other rescue craft were soon on hand and small pieces of wreckage were found. The search continued for the body of the dead airman.

U.S. Aid To China One-third That For Greece, Turkey

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. military aid to China is running somewhat under one-third of that to Greece and Turkey.

This became known today with estimates from government sources that fighting equipment valued at about $63,000,000 has been delivered to Chiang Kai-shek's hard-pressed armies in the last year and a half.

During roughly the same period, the United States shipped arms and other military supplies worth $230,000,000 to Greece and Turkey under the Truman doctrine pledging to keep those nations out of Communist clutches.

How successful China may be in its desperate efforts to narrow the ration of U.S. aid to the two Communist-menaced areas remains to be seen.

Those efforts currently are being pressed by Mme. Chiang, wife of the generalissimo, who flew here last Wednesday. China's first lady is due to meet President and Mrs. Truman early this week to voice her informal appeal for greater help from the United States.

Ganges Woman Shot

Mrs. Lucille Evanoff is in serious condition in hospital at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, suffering from a .22 calibre bullet wound in the head. Provincial Police said her eldest son, 14, was trying to shoot a rat on the kitchen shelf. The bullet passed through a wall, striking Mrs. Evanoff lying in bed.

First pickets to appear today in the carpenters' strike for a 15-cent increase to their basic pay were, left to right: E. Chivers, J. R. Richmond, H. G. Simenson, W. Harris, E. T. Staley and E. H. Oliver. Pickets are being sent to all construction jobs where non-union carpenters are continuing to work. Union officials predict a complete tie-up in the building industry. More pickets will be on the job Tuesday, they said.

Carpenters Commence Picketing Few Jobs; Both Sides Stubborn

An early settlement appears unlikely in the carpenters' strike which started today and which is expected to increase in intensity Tuesday.

The Victoria Builders' Exchange is firm in its conviction that carpenters are not entitled to more than a 7½-cents increase to their basic wage rate of $1.40 an hour. Carpenters want 15 cents.

Following a meeting of the contractors today, a spokesman said: "We think we are right. We think we are fighting in the best interest of the public. There is no suggestion we will give way."

On the other hand a spokesman for the carpenters' union said although only about 12 pickets appeared today, more will be out Tuesday.

"We're going to tie up everything," he said.

The carpenters held a meeting at the Labor Hall early today. About 200 of the union's membership of 800 attended. Details of the strike, called last Friday night by the union executive, were discussed and organization details worked out.

The plan was for scout cars to cover the entire Greater Victoria area today. All jobs where non-union carpenters are at work were to be listed. Pickets will be sent to each of these jobs tomorrow.

The union will issue permits for carpenters to work on projects in emergency categories.

Two men were allowed to work at the Hudson's Bay Company store addition where a sidewalk had caved in and repairs were necessary for public safety.

Another meeting of the union will be held this evening to discuss reports of strike scouts and make additional plans in the fight for a boost to $1.55 an hour in their basic wage schedule.

Carpenters authorized the strike early last week by a 3½-to-1 vote taken under government supervision.

The vote was called for when contractors refused to accept a majority award of a conciliation board recommending payment of the 15 cents increase. An earlier majority award of the concilators recommended the 7½ cents hike which the contractors agreed to pay.

Refused 24-Hour Cool-Off

Contractors do not feel the strike vote was carried out in true democratic procedure. They asked the Labor Department to make it necessary for carpenters to wait 24 hours from the time a strike meeting was held before voting.

"We believe it would have been a far different story if the boys had gone home, talked to their wives, and given the question more thought before voting," a contractor said.

He claimed the carpenters were "worked up and excited" by union orators immediately prior to the taking of the vote.

Now that the carpenters have gone on strike, the Builders' Exchange offer to pay the 7½ cents boost is canceled, and negotiations on the $1.40 scale must be canceled, and negotiations on the $1.40 scale must be opened up by the union, it was stated by a member of the exchange.

The 7½ cents increase would have been paid retroactive to Nov. 16.

"But there won't be any retroactive pay now," the exchange man said.

There are approximately 1,200 carpenters in this area. Four hundred are non-union.

Union electricians striking against 14 local electrical contracting companies, as well as the carpenters, are supported in their action by allied building trades unions.

Other trade unions, members of the Victoria Building Trades Council, agreed on Saturday to respect picket lines of both groups.

Chinese Forces From Suchow In Trap, Reds Say

NANKING (AP) — The Chinese Communist radio said tonight Red forces have completed "an air-tight encirclement" of the Nationalist former Suchow garrison in the battle for Nanking.

The garrison, comprising some 110,000 combat troops in the Sixteenth, Thirteenth and Second Army groups, abandoned Suchow last Wednesday in an effort to reach the trapped government Twelfth army group in the Suhsien sector, about 45 miles to the south.

If the Communist claim is true, it means that only the government troops on the new Hwai River defence line enjoy freedom of movement in the region. The line was set up recently 100 miles northeast of Nanking, but is manned by relatively inferior troops.

Foreign military observers said the Suchow troops—largest government force in all East China—must break through the Communist lines or face probable annihilation. Having destroyed huge supply depots in the evacuation of Suchow, the troops are carrying only limited supplies.

The battle probably will be decisive, in any event. The immediate future of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government is regarded as hinging on developments between 100 and 200 miles northwest of Nanking.

Chinese Press dispatches reported 20,000 Communist troops equipped with artillery were active in an area about 60 miles northeast of Nanking. These reports confirmed the widely-accepted belief that many Communists have infiltrated to the north bank of the vital Yangtze river.

Some are even believed to have crossed the broad stream and come into the Nanking area.

Two-Way Contest

ST. ROSE, Que. (CP)—A two-way contest in the Dec. 20 federal by-election in Laval-Two Mountains riding was assured today when Leopold Demers, 34-year-old agronomist of Ville St. Laurent, Liberal, and Honore Desey, 52-year-old wood merchant, Republican-for-Peace candidate, filed nomination papers.

Third Candidate

RICHMOND, Ont. (CP) — A surprise third candidate today entered the Dec. 20 federal by-election for the Ontario constituency of Carleton. He is Nelson McCracken of Ottawa. A supporter of the Social Credit Party, he qualified shortly before nominations closed at 2 p.m. The other two are George Drew, Progressive Conservative Party leader, and Dr. Eugene Forsey, C.C.F. candidate.

Tenders Opened For Muir Creek Bridge

Two tenders were opened by Works Minister E. C. Carson today on construction of the substructures of both the Muir Creek and Tugwell Creek bridges on the Sooke-Jordan River stretch of the West Coast Road.

Baynes Manning Ltd., submitted a bid of $53,263 and Marwell Construction Company, $46,748.

Both bridges are within a short distance of each other. Both are antiquated wooden structures. The Muir Creek span was condemned last year and a temporary structure erected. This was smashed by a shifting log jam last week.

Japs Given Right To Enter Appeals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The supreme court by a 5-4 vote today granted a hearing to two Japanese wartime officials convicted as war criminals and sentenced to be hanged.

The court's action was made known by Justice Robert Jackson.

The appeals were filed on behalf of General Kenji Dohihara and Koki Hirota, former Premier of Japan. The appeals challenged legality of trials conducted by the international military tribunal at Tokyo.

Ursus Kermodei Dead To Be Museum Piece

Ursus Kermodei, centre of intermittent storm and strife for nearly 26 years, is dead.

She passed away quietly between Saturday night and Sunday morning in her cage at Beacon Hill Park, where she was found by Caretaker George Redknap. A victim of general failing health coupled with a rheumatic condition, Ursus, the great white bear, will become a museum piece. The bear will be stuffed and set up in the Provincial Museum.

Her cage will be demolished some time this winter, probably along with the pheasant pens and the entire area "improved," according to W. H. Warren, park superintendent today. Seems rather a cold way of looking at it, but probably Ursus is better off.

Certainly she will no longer be a conversation piece for council, cranks and organizations, who have all had their say about Ursus, from what she ate and when she went to bed to the state of her personal cleanliness —or lack of same.

The only one of her species in captivity, Ursus came to Beacon Hill Park as a baby bear of six months from Princess Royal Island in 1924. She has been a source of interest and a feature of the park ever since.

The last public controversy Ursus featured in, was that of May, 1948, when Ald. M. Aubrey Kent, as chairman of the parks committee reported to council, complaints registered about objectionable odors emanating from the cage. He felt the only answer would be to have the bear destroyed but knew there would be a "holler" over that.

. . . Released from captivity.

Now the complex problem of what to do about Ursus is solved. She is in the happy hunting grounds.

'More Talk Than Action', In U.N., Laments Pearson

PARIS (CP)—L. B. Pearson of Canada says the current United Nations' General Assembly has been characterized by "more talk than action" and the only resemblance it bears to a symphony is that it is unfinished.

He delivered his verdict in a question-and-answer broadcast recorded here and broadcast Sunday night.

Asked why the Assembly took so long on each of the important items on the agenda, the minister of External Affairs said frankly: "We talk too much."

And some speeches—"not the Canadian ones, of course"—were designed purely for propaganda effect, he added:

"The same people are making speeches three or four times on the same issue, sometimes for one and two hours at a time—and you know which people I am talking about.

"There seems to be a determination on their part not to move one inch from the position they have taken at the beginning. Not only do we spend weeks listening to these speeches but even after all that time we never seem to arrive at a compromise."

As one of the few useful actions of the Assembly, Pearson listed the handling of the Creek problem. Without elaborating, he said:

"We have helped the situatioin on the Greek border and prevented the broadening of disturbances in that area."

On Palestine, he said that he doesn't think there is "any hope at all" of a final settlement in this session. But there is some hope for a basis to a settlement in the appointment of a conciliation commission.

Toll Possibly 9,200 Lives In 2 China Ship Disasters

SHANGHAI (AP) — Two Chinese ship explosions one month apart were estimated today to have taken possibly 9,200 lives.

Explosion of the crowded refugee steamer Kiangya near Shanghai Friday night with loss of an estimated 3,200 or more lives brought the disclosure from official Nanking sources that as many aas 6,000 died in a similar sinking off Southern Manchuria early in November.

This larger disaster, rating as probably the greatest single-ship tragedy was said to have involved an unidentified merchant ship which was evacuating elements of the government's 52nd Army from Yingkow.

It was not announced by the military, but the sources said word trickled into Nanking that the boiler burst, setting off ammunition and killing all on board.

The Yingkow evacuation fleet was under Communist artillery fire at the time, but it was not known whether this had anything to do with the explosion. No other details were obtainable.

MINE BLAMED

Meanwhile, belief grew in maritime circles a drifting war mine sank the refugee ship Kiangya in the Yangtze estuary Friday night. Earlier rumors had blamed Communist sabotage.

The 2,099-ton steamship Kiangya sailed from Shanghai Friday for Ninghsien (Ningpo), 200 miles south along the coast. It exploded about 10 p.m. Friday and sank within an hour, all available survivors agreed.

Berliners Line Up To Vote Spoiling Communists' Day

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BERLIN (AP)—A final count showed today blockaded Berliners slapped the Communists with 1,330,820 votes, each one a protest against Soviet occupation policies.

The central election bureau said 86.2 per cent of the eligible voters cast valid ballots Sunday in the three western sectors for the regularly-scheduled city elections, which the Communists boycotted.

The vote swept the Socialist Party into power in the western part of the city. Like the Christian Democrats and the Liberal Democrats, who ran second and third, the Socialists are anti-Communist.

The final results:

Social Democrats (Socialist)—858,100 (64.5 per cent).

Christian Democrats (Conservative)—258,496 (19.4 per cent).

Liberal Democrats (Conservative)—214,224 (16.1 per cent).

In all, 1,586,090 Germans were eligible to vote in the constitutionally prescribed election in the three sectors, under U.S., British and French control. The Russians refused to conduct or permit voting in their sector. In voting the western Berliners defied a variety of threats from the Communists.

The Communists had urged Berliners either to avoid the election or spoil the ballots. But election officials said the final check showed only 37,156 spoiled ballots—which they termed "not unusual." Russian-controlled newspapers contended the spoiled ballots exceeded 200,000.

The election was fought on one issue—Russia versus the west. All three parties on the ballot denounced the rule of the Soviet sector.

Building May Top $100,000,000 In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Construction in British Columbia during 1948 may reach a new high of $100,000,000 or more than one-third higher that last year's record.

In a survey of major B.C. centres, it was revealed that building permits for the first 10 months of the year totaled $71,563,046. With December's figures added, the $100,000,000 mark is expected to be reached.

Last year, the building total was approximately $60,000,000.

Vancouver led the province with nearly $31,000,000 for the 10-month period, while Burnaby municipality was second with $6,913,824. Victoria ranked third with $5,612,183.

Robert Walker Faces Drunkenness Charge

TOPEKA, Kas. (AP) — Police Sgt. Jack Simpson said Robert Walker, Hollywood film actor, was booked Sunday night on a charge of being drunk and destroying city property.

Police said Walker was picked up with several other persons for creating a disturbance at a hotel. While waiting to be booked, police said, Walker smashed the glass of a bulletin board with his fist.

Walker was turned over to attendants from a local clinic where he is listed as a patient.

The actor was released without bail. Officers said his case probably would come up Tuesday in police court.

Charges Laid In Vancouver Hold-ups

VANCOUVER (CP) — William Coxon of Vancouver, 25-year-old carnival worker, has been charged with robbery with violence in connection with three recent hold-ups here.

Following a police line-up Sunday night, he was charged with robbing three Vancouver establishments from which a total of $100 was taken. In each case, the bandit simulated a gun.

Police were reported to be questioning suspects in Saturday's $1,000 robbery of a Royal Bank of Canada branch in the downtown district.

Comb Pacific For 37 After U.S. Navy Transport Crash

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — Rescue operations were under way in the Pacific today for a United States Air Force C-54 transport forced down at sea with 37 men aboard during a week-end marked by a series of plane crashes on three continents as well as the Pacific Ocean.

Air disasters occurred in Germany, in China and several states in the United States.

The total known week-end death toll was 65.

From Johnston Island in the Pacific came word that a search plane had sighted survivors of the C-54 forced down Sunday. The plane did not report the number of survivors.

Later a U.S. Navy search plane radioed it was circling the survivors and said it could maintain its vigil about 3½ hours.

Engine trouble forced the big American transport to ditch at a point about 1,000 miles southwest of Honolulu.

The C-54 was one of a flight of five en route from Okinawa to Spokane, Wash. It carried a crew of seven and 30 passengers.

Twenty-five Chinese, mostly women and children, were killed in the crash of a transport plane on Formosa. The crash occurred Friday but was not reported until today when the wreckage was found. The victims were dependents of Chinese army personnel.

In Shanghai, there was a death toll of 11 in the crash of a Chinese Central Air Transport plane which burned at Kiangwan airport.

In Berlin, three American crew members perished when an Airlift C-54 crashed just after a takeoff.

At Forlonia airport near Milan an Italian airlines plane en route to Brussels, crashed and burned killing the crew of four Italians and one German passenger.

The crash of a plane into a mountain near Salinas, Calif., took a death toll of six persons. The occupants were navy personnel, but the navy said it was not a military aircraft.

Blizzards Tie Up Highway Traffic Around Brandon

By CANADIAN PRESS

Only southwestern Saskatchewan and the extreme south of Alberta today escaped blowing snow which, falling heavily during the week-end in the Brandon, Man., region, blocked three highways west of there and made all others so heavy that traffic was barely getting through.

Government snowplows were in action in western Manitoba and H. P. Stanley, district engineer at Brandon, asked Winnipeg offices of the highways branch for additional equipment.

Traffic was getting through on No. 1 Highway between Winnipeg and the Saskatchewan border, but the going was heavy along the route.

Two plows were operating.

The weather office at Winnipeg reported blowing snow all the way from Regina through Winnipeg, Kenora, Ont., Yorkton, Dafoe, Sask., north to The Pas, Man., and west to Edmonton.

Five Injured As Truck Crashes Over Road At Sooke

None of the five persons in the light delivery truck which crashed off the road at Sooke Road and Parkland Drive, Saturday night at 11.30, were dangerously injured. All work at the C.N.R. building and bridging camp at Milnes' Landing.

The vehicle, driven by James Miller, who escaped unhurt, was proceeding toward town when it went off the road for 200 feet, crashing into timbers en route, and wound up stradling the boxed-in main supplying the district with water.

The impact broke the main, but Constable Alan Quinn of the B.C. Police in Sooke area reported the break was quickly mended.

Most seriously hurt were Mary Cowgill, fractured right ankle, head and other lacerations; Vincent Gwozdz, head lacerations. They are still in hospital.

Harry Pickersgill and Allan Riome, suffering from bruises and cuts, were kept in hospital overnight and released Sunday. The other passenger, Joe Warwick, did not need hospital treatment.

Constable Quinn said Miller, Cowgill and Warwick were in the cab of the truck, the other three in the rear. Gwozdz was picked up 26 feet from the truck.

Injured were brought to city hospitals by the West Coast Ambulance and Constable Quinn.

Amnesia Victim May Be Torontonian Thought Murdered

MONTREAL (CP)—A man believed to be Robert Taylor Thompson, missing since Thursday when his truck and wallet were found in an Oshawa, Ont., park, turned up in a downtown office in Montreal today, apparently suffering from amnesia.

J. B. Lynes, manager of the Montreal branch of National Cash Register, said the man was outside the Craig Street office asking passersby if they recognize him.

Office workers asked him to come inside the building. A search of his clothing revealed the name "Robert Taylor Thompson" sewn into the lining of his coat.

"We found him standing outside in the rain asking people if anybody recognized him," Mr. Lynes said. "We brought him inside and found the label with the name sewn in his clothing but we don't consider that positive identification."

Ontario provincial police had been searching for Thompson, employed as a truck driver by the cash register firm. Police found a wallet in the truck abandoned in an Oshawa Park and said there were signs of a struggle. They said they feared he had been murdered but did not exclude the possibility he might be an amnesia victim.

White Collar Men Want To Unionize

WINNIPEG (CP)—White collar workers are showing an "increasing determination' to unionize, William Leonard, general secretary of the Saskatchewan Civil Servants' Association, said here Saturday night in an address at the fourth annual convention of the Manitoba Civil Servants' Association.

"Governments will be forced to take increasing notice of this determination whether they resent or anticipate it," he said. He predicted that in the next 10 years all provincial government employee organizations would be identified with the labor movement.

Oregon Bus Crash Kills Two, Injures 25 Others

GRANTS PASS, Ore (AP)—Two high school athletes were killed and 25 other members and coaches of the Grants Pass football team were injured when a bus overturned and burned near here Sunday night.

The squad was within five miles of home and a rousing welcome planned for their winning of the state football championship the day previous at Portland.

Survivors said the chartered bus was enveloped in flames immediately and that they escaped by smashing the windows.

The victims were star halfback Al Newman and Varsity lineman Sterling Heater.

Five other boys are in hospital. One of these, Vernon Craft, who starred at halfback in the championship game Saturday, suffered a serious back injury.

The 17 other squad members and the three coaches were treated for bruises, cuts and slight burns at the hospital and then sent home.

The accident occurred on an icy down grade of Sexton Mountain on Highway 99, north of the city.

The bus went off the edge of the highway, skidded and turned completely around and turned over.

Within a few minutes the fire had burned through a centre section of the bus and one portion tumbled over a 75-foot embankment into a gully. Later the body of one boy was found in the wreckage on the road and the other was discovered in the gully.

The Greyhound bus company identified the driver as A. F. Coale of Portland.

Two Of Five Seriously Hurt In Crash

Three of five persons in this truck were injured at Sooke Saturday night when it went off the road for 200 feet and crashed into the boxed-in main supplying Saseenos and Sooke areas with water. Most seriously hurt were Mary Cowgill, cook, and Vincent Gwozdz, who are in hospital. Allan Riome and Harry Pickersgill were treated for minor injuries. Driver James Miller and Joe Warwick did not require hospital treatment. (See story, Five Injured, page 2.)

Grand Jury Gets 'Definite Proof' Of Red Spy Ring

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives un-American activities committee is handing a federal grand jury today what it calls definite and shocking proof of a Communist spy network operated in the State Department before the war.

At the request of the United States Justice Department, the committee sent one of its investigators, William A. Wheeler, to New York. His mission: to turn over copies of secret papers to a grand jury which has been investigating Communists and espionage for nearly 18 months.

There are papers which the committee says a member of the Communist underground in the State Department turned over to another member on the outside for relay to Russian agents.

The outside man was Whittaker Chambers, now a Time Magazine editor who admits he was a courier for the Communist underground in Washington before he broke with the Communists in 1938.

The committee is hanging on to another set of copies of the documents, for use when it starts its own spy hearings going again tomorrow—but perhaps behind closed doors.

The prints were made from microfilms obtained by subpoena from Chambers last week.

Robert E. Striplin, chief investigator for the House committee, has said the hearings starting tomorrow will establish who fed the papers to Chambers from the state department.

Man In Court On Traffic Signal Charge

Hannes M Hannesson, 659 Niagara Street, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of disobeying the traffic control signal at Yates and Douglas Streets on Nov. 29, when he appeared before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today. He was remanded until tomorrow.

This is the first court action following a police warning to pedestrians recently to obey the traffic signals.

Charge was laid by Constable Lewis Kamann.

Red Attack Starts Big Marriage Boom

NANKING (Reuter)—The Communist threat to Nanking has led to a marriage boom. Hundreds of young people in the Chinese capital are rushing into war marriages. Sunday more than 100 weddings took place and in one restaurant alone more than 20 wedding receptions were held.

Western Allies Make Bid Russia Disown Berlin Rump Regime

PARIS (AP)—The Western Powers Sunday made a bid for Russia to disown the "rump" Communist government set up by Soviet authorities in Berlin and resume co-operation in a four-power administration.

Otherwise, they said, the chances for an agreement to end the deadlock in the blockaded former German capital will be considerably dimmed.

There was no hint of Russian agreement.

The western position was stated in a long memorandum sent by Britain, United States and France to the committee of neutral experts set up by the U.S. Security Council to study the Berlin currency situation.

The three powers said grave new problems have arisen in Berlin because of what they said was interference on the part of the Russians with the normal working of Berlin's constitution.

They said these probiems could be set aside now "if the Soviet authorities were to disown the unconstitutional body created in the Soviet sector Nov. 30, 1948, and in conformity with the constitution permit elections to be held on a city-wide basis."

The memorandum was handed to the committee of experts Saturday night, before the Berlin election in which the citizens of the western sectors trooped to the polls in unexpectedly great numbers to rebuff Russian and German Communists.

A fine of $35 and a one-month license suspension was imposed against George Rose by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today. He pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving which followed an accident he was involved in with a car driven by Chee Long, 526 Fisgard Street, at Pandora Avenue and Vancouver Street.

Pacific Ports Hum As Second Longest Ship Tie-up Ends

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After 95 days of strike idleness the Pacific Coast today reopened its biggest business—shipping.

The last obstacles to maritime peace were removed Sunday when the non-striking A.F.L. Sailors' Union of the Pacific received a written guarantee from shipowners the strike settlements with C.I.O. unions would not invade its jurisdiction.

Five striking unions made peace in the coast's second longest strike last week, but the A.F.L. sailors blocked a return to work until they got the guarantee.

C.I.O. longshore gangs called to the docks today began working cargo on some 280 ships tied up in the strike.

Employers estimated the tie-up has cost about $380,000,000 in the United States shipping industry and many millions more affected by it.

A railroad embargo, imposed to prevent cargoes from piling up on western docks, has been lifted.

In Seattle, the Alaska Steamship Company, only U.S. shipping line serving the territory, announced the passenger steamer Baranoff leaves for southeastern Alaska ports on Friday.

Cattle Round-up In Toronto Streets

TORONTO (CP) — Suburban York township policemen rode cruiser cars Sunday to round up 17 stray cattle. A collision Saturday night liberated 18 of them from a cattle truck and early today one was still on the loose. The steers wandered all over north Toronto until police, aided by a stockyards crew, corralled them.

A permit for erection of a dwelling at 208 Linden, to cost $3,000, has been issued by the city building inspector.

The Cordova Bay Community Club will hold an organ recital at the church hall of St. David's-by-the-Sea at Cordova Bay on Wednesday at 8 in aid of the community club's building fund. Mr. Bernie Ryall will be organist. Songs and piano duets are also on the program.

SLAP FOR STALIN

BERLINERS IN THE BRITISH, UNITED States and French zones of the battered capital of the former Third Reich yesterday signified by their freely-cast ballots that they have about as much use for Communism and the Russian method of doing business as the average individual in this and other democratic countries. Social Democrats, Christian Democrats, and Liberal Democrats—whose basic political beliefs differ only in more or less unimportant particulars—gave what the Associated Press dispatch this morning aptly described as a gigantic "Nein" (No) to Moscow. Of course the Russians urged the voters either to shun the polling booths altogether or spoil their ballots, a typical demonstration of the Stalinist fear of the result. But when the outside world understands the implication of a turnout of 86.2 per cent of the enfranchised populace, a volume of expression which far exceeded expectations, it will begin to appreciate the manner in which the people who for several years were bamboozled by the political and economic glamor of Hitler's "new order" apparently are trying to recapture something of the meaning of the free system of elections which prevailed in the Second Reich.

The result of yesterday's decision, which can be translated into an emphatic instruction from 86.2 per cent of the electorate for the establishment of a representative civic government, will be welcomed by all those nations of the world that still cling tenaciously to the fundamentals of democracy. And unless we are woefully misinformed, this latest rebuff to the Moscow pattern of totalitarianism will not be lost on that considerable element of intelligent folk who are trying to eke out an existence under the repressive rule of Communism on the eastern side of the "iron curtain." For example, it should be taken for granted that thousands in such former independent states as Czechoslovakia, Poland, Yugoslavia—and even Hungary—are merely waiting for that kind of inspirational leadership which will instil in them the fighting spirit that acted as the sparkplug for some of the revolutionaries of a century ago. In any case, yesterday's free elections in that part of Berlin under democratic direction, despite all Moscow's threats, have furnished new hope for troubled Europe. The verdict has knocked another prop from under the last vestige of an appeasement policy.

NOT WANTED

WHATEVER THE ORIGIN OF THE report that appeared in the Paris newspaper Le Figaro, that Marshal Henri Philippe Petain, the former Vichy leader who now is serving a sentence of life imprisonment for his activities as a collaborationist with the Germans, had been offered a refuge by Canada, it was quickly quashed. External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson lost no time in making it clear that this Dominion had made no such offer to the 93-year-old marshal, and in so doing he was only anticipating the desires of all Canadians. The controversy that has arisen over the admittance to this country of several French citizens who are under sentence in absentia by French collaborationist courts leaves no doubts about public opinion on that score. Too many Canadian homes were bereaved and impoverished by the effort to stamp out Nazi tyranny for there to be any welcome on these shores for those who in any way aided Hitler's ambitions for conquest.

THE LONG SLIDE

WITH THE COAL AND TRANSPORTATION industries among those already nationalized by Britain's Socialist government, and similar action in the steel industry currently the subject of heated controversy, it is now believed that the wholesalers and middlemen in the meat, fruit and vegetable trades may also come under similar governmental direction. A news report says that "it would mean the setting up of huge trading corporations whose business would run into at least £100,000,000 a year." Although the object is professedly to try to cut costs to the consumer by eradicating the middleman and the services he renders, it is difficult to see how the substitution of an official board for the independent dealer is going to reduce expenses to any appreciable degree.

Bulk buying by government agencies, which has been in operation since 1945, has proved very costly and has not been successful in preventing food shortages. Like many other instances of Socialist planning, it has been charged with being merely a device to share scarcities, rather than a way of providing plenty. Now it appears that another board will be created to sell produce to the purchasing board. If this fails—and experience gives no indication that it should be a great success—the next step would seem to be to take over the land and the actual production of foods—a step which Socialist candidates in Britain, as well as in Canada, always deny they would ever consider.

It needs little imagination, however, to see how the country's food situation under the universal and omnipotent boards could soon reach a state in which nationalization of the land would become a "necessity." Nationalization is a long slide, upon which the national economy, once embarked, is likely to end up in a heap at the bottom with the government owning everything.

IN COSTA RICA

IN ITS PRESENT STATE OF INTERnational tension, the civilized world may look with some wistfulness at the decision adopted by the Republic of Costa Rica to abolish its army. The action, be it noted, conforms to the traditions of the country which, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, is "known chiefly . . . politically for its record of peace and general prosperity." The president, Jose Figueres, moreover, has explained that Costa Rica loves peace and there is no need for keeping a standing army.

Many other nations would like to agree with those sentiments. Unfortunately, however, in an age which has known too tragically recent attempts to rule by force, such an attitude seems visionary and contains within itself the dangers of appeasement. The condition which applies to the major and middle powers may not, however, exist for the small republic of 23,000 square miles bounded by the Caribbean and the Pacific Ocean and by Nicaragua and Panama. The population of Costa Rica, on the basis of the 1940 census, is little more than 656,000. Its standing army could scarcely be a force in world affairs. Furthermore, the maintenance of domestic peace might quite sanely be left to the police in this republic which, unlike many of its Hispanic American neighbors, has shown little inclination for military emphasis.

Should Costa Rica be threatened by a major aggressive power, its defence could only be successful through the intervention of strong Western Hemisphere nations. What their attitudes may be toward the elimination of the republic's standing army must remain a matter of conjecture. But the luxury of avoiding the staggering burden of armaments can be for them only a dream that may be realized in some distant future when intelligence and social consciousness are more universally developed than they are today.

NOT IN THIS COUNTRY

THE GRADING OF AUTO COURTS under provincial supervision and the consequent development and improvement of this type of tourist accommodation have been big factors in aiding the tourist industry of British Columbia. A great deal of credit is due the proprietors of the numerous establishments that cater to motoring visitors. Many of them have made their places outstandingly attractive in appearance, cleanliness and helpful service. They have made friends for themselves and for their province.

According to a Canadian Press dispatch from Vancouver, where the Auto Courts and Resorts Association of this province ended a convention last Saturday, however, "a resolution was adopted asking power for the Association to have a say in establishment of new auto courts anywhere in the province. It suggested Association members be consulted before competitors are allowed to establish themselves." This implies an entirely new departure from the admirable policy of gaining business by providing a better service which heretofore has motivated the tourist court business. While this country enjoys a system of free competition and free enterprise, a man who wishes to try his luck in business should not have to go to his prospective competitor and ask permission to begin.

Extension of the same principle to other forms of business—say, grocery shops, or shoe stores—makes the unworkable nature of such a proposal obvious. With the spur of competition removed there would be no particular incentive to make one's shop—or auto court—the best available and the most attractive to potential customers. Much as established interests might like to control, and veto when they thought fit, any would-be competitors, such sweeping powers would not be in their own real interests nor in the interests of this province and its visitors. May we hope that the resolution will die on paper.

GETTING CLOSER APART?

EIRE'S EFFORTS TO BREAK ALL CONstitutional ties with the British Crown are not being matched by similar rejections in other fields. We have already taken note in these columns of an attempt by the Republic to ensure that it will enjoy many of the benefits of Commonwealth membership without the corresponding responsibilities. There have been, in addition, moves to guarantee Irish trade relations with the country for which Eire professes to have little other regard. We read now, in a news dispatch from Dublin, that officers of the British Army are helping the military leaders of Eire to make a coastal survey of their country with a view to installing defensive radar equipment—which Britain also is supplying.

We will recognize, however we may disagree with, the desire of the Irish to be free of all political allegiance to the British throne. The history of the political relations between the two countries has not been a happy one. But the facts of geography, of economics, of military security and of the general approach to living cannot be passed over, either by political edict or by nationalistic determination. Eire needs her great neighbor, Britain, and Britain needs Eire. And there may be hope that now, in the Irish way of doing things, their removal of the last formal connecting link will satisfy the Celtic urge to independence, and permit an even closer contact, in fields other than political, between the two sea-girt portions of the British Isles.

Enter Baldwin's Ghost

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
From Washington

WHAT IS NOW GOING on is a crisis within the United States administration comparable to the crisis that preceded Secretary Marshall's Harvard speech. At that time, the question was whether to pretend to ignore the increasing menace of Soviet policy, or to adopt the counter-measure of the European Recovery Program. And at that time, President Truman made his choice boldly, firmly and with wise vision.

Adoption of E.R.P., passage of the draft, launching of rearmament, last year seemed to commit the President to an all-out effort to stabilize the desperately dangerous world situation. But even then, it was clear that the increasing costs of American rearmament, plus the need for such further steps as the Atlantic pact and peacetime lend-lease for western Europe, would eventually confront the President with another difficult choice.

THIS CHOICE is the issue in the present crisis. Up to now, foreign and defence policy have been financed out of surplus as it were. But now the time has come, as predicted here, when taxes must be increased heavily—perhaps by as much as $5,000,000,000—and controls must be imposed to prevent foreign and defence spending from precipitating a serious further inflation. The United States can either have business-as-usual, or a developing foreign and defence policy. She cannot any longer have both. And if she does not go forward on the foreign and defence fronts, she will automatically go backward, losing ground disastrously.

THE CHOICE is essentially the same that confronted Stanley Baldwin, when Winston Churchill and other British leaders visited him, in solemn deputation, to warn of Hitler's rearmament. The curious thing is, in view of the President's past record, that he seems to be seriously considering making Baldwin's comfortable, easy, but ultimately suicidal mistake of choosing business-as-usual. Such, at least, is the practical implication of the $15,000,000,000 ceiling placed by the President on army, navy and air force expenditures in the next budget.

It has already been disclosed in this space that the budget ceiling means abandoning plans for any effective air striking force, by cutting back the projected air force from seventy to about fifty groups.

IT HAS BEEN officially announced that draft call-ups next year are to be reduced from 30,000 monthly to 5,000 monthly, and the projected American ground army is to be cut back from 900,000 to about 700,000 men. And it can now also be disclosed that the budget ceiling may even force the Navy to reduce its Mediterranean units, which have played such an important part in American foreign policy.

In short, other nations, both potential United States allies and above all the Kremlin, are to be openly informed that American policy is without backbone. And this is to be done at a time of grave crisis, when the President's own experts consider that the still-unresolved Berlin situation may flare up at any moment into an actual danger of war. The short-range result will be to kill the last slender hope of a Berlin settlement. The long-range result will be to place the United States in the position of Britain vis-a-vis Germany in 1938.

THERE REMAINS THE riddle of the President's decision, which so obviously makes nonsense of such Truman measures as last year's fine draft message. The answer is that certain of the President's personal advisers, out of touch with foreign policy, pre-occupied with domestic problems, persuaded him to take the present steps with no end in view but holding down the budget. The most important influences seem to have been Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder and Snyder's perpetual White House ally, Dr. John Steelman. Snyder's motive, of course, was an intense anxiety to avoid renewed economic controls and to escape any new taxes but a mild corporate income tax.

SNYDER AND STEELMAN were supported by Budget Director James Webb and the President's chief economist, Dr. Edwin Nourse, in the sense of giving the impartial, undisputed expert opinion that increased foreign and defense spending would necessitate heavy tax rises and a strong controls program. Not the least curious aspect of the resulting situation is the reflection on the sincerity of the President's own repeated requests for reimposed controls and his repeated attacks on the Republican tax cut. Snyder's advice has placed the President in the position of reversing the most vital of all his policies, in order to avoid doing precisely what he has himself advocated loudly and continuously.

THUS, THE PRESIDENT is depicted in such a strange light that a broader review of all the facts seems certain to make him change his mind. He is not sophist enough to convince himself or the country that America will be "strong," as he has always demanded, after the extremely modest re-armament program has been publicly gutted. Whatever his other defects, he has always shown disinterested courage and simple patriotism. These were not the qualities that animated Stanley Baldwin when he brought Britain to the brink of destruction.

Sailing A Different Tack?

By JAMES THRASHER, From New York

THE action of the C.I.O.'s national executive board in revoking the charter of the Greater New York C.I.O. Council is of particular interest. For most of the Communist and pro-Communist C.I.O. union presidents were members of the New York council.

SLAVISH ADHERENCE

The executive board charged that the council had "brought discredit upon the national C.I.O. by the slavish adherence . . . to the line and dictates of the Communist Party." And a comparison of the council's past activity with general Communist policy in America during the past 10 years stamps that charge as both accurate and temperate.

Further, the unprecedented platform attack on Reds in the C.I.O. by President Philip Murray in Portland and the tremendous support which it received from convention delegates indicates the extent to which the union is willing to go in clearing itself of Communists. It's also a heartening commentary on the loyalty and intelligence of union members.

Thus the C.I.O.'s break with its Communist executives, which began when the former repudiated Henry Wallace's candidacy, seems to have reached a showdown. It is, we should say, about time. For the strategy of playing ball with the Red comrades, which the top C.I.O. leadership persisted in so long, gave the big union organization a black eye that hasn't yet faded out completely.

The erasure of the Greater New York Council looks like a sweeping victory for the C.I.O.'s anti-Communists. The leftist leaders took it lying down. Some of them, in fact, didn't even vote against the action. It has been suggested that these men who failed to defend their own actions were afraid of a showdown that would expose their loss of power. That may be true. But we are quite sure that the C.I.O.'s top men will not overlook another possibility.

ANOTHER COURSE

That is the possibility, already hinted in various quarters, that Communist tactics are changing in the face of reverses in the United States and in Europe. In America, the collapse of the third-party movement took a lot of wind out of Red sails. If the Wallace vote had been big, and the C.I.O. crackdown had still come off, it was thought that the left-wing leaders might try to lead their unions out of the C.I.O. and into a new organization. But it now appears that they may tack about and sail another course.

These leftists meekly accepted the board's majority decision and did not appeal it to the C.I.O. convention. But it must not be forgotten that they are still the heads of their own unions. The board's action did nothing about that.

So now the orders from on high might well be for the comrades to assume a sweet and reasonable air, stop cussing the Marshall Plan and otherwise antagonizing the membership, keep their jobs, and join the enthusiastic ranks streaming back to Mr. Truman's leadership.

The C.I.O. big wheels, like a lot of other prominent people, were cool to the Truman candidacy for a long time. But now they are prominent among those who are taking credit for the President's victory and working and hoping for his blessing on their own objectives.

HEADING INWARD?

We don't know, of course, what instructions C.I.O. leftists have been given. But it would be well for both C.I.O. and Democratic leaders to take a close look and make sure that the Communists aren't sneaking by in the parade, and heading toward the inner political circles.

Dr. Gallup And The Flag

By THOMAS WHITESIDE in The New Republic

DR. GALLUP'S recent fall from grace reminds me of the mysterious case of the televised American flag which I encountered while snooping around Dr. Gallup's elegant offices. Dr. Gallup, I had heard, was measuring audience reactions to television shows, so I made an appointment with one of his experts to find out how bloodshot the public eye was becoming under the impact of puppet shows, jugglers and antique Westerns.

REDUCED TO A GRAPH

It was then that the Gallup man showed me the American flag. He had reduced Old Glory to a graph. The stars were gone, and only a jagged stripe remained. Originally, the flag thus compressed had been flying on New York television screens. The flag got onto a Gallup graph in the interests of science.

One evening, as part of the many services which the polling organization renders our advertising elite, the Gallup people had collected some televiewers and fastened them to a machine called the Hopkins Televoter to register their reactions toward various programs. (The "reaction" consisted of twisting dials marked from "poor" to "very good.") The audience's composite judgment then was recorded in the form of an "attitude graph."

The programs began with a newsreel, varying anywhere on the clicking needles from "interesting" (for a gas explosion which destroyed an apartment house) to "neutral" (for a singing commercial) and continued through a piece of artistry called "Champagne and Orchids" and a movie featurette involving hunting dogs and Rudy Vallee (the dogs registered "very good" and Mr. Vallee scarcely at all).

EDUCATIONAL

"Firestone Americana is an educational program," explained the Gallup expert as his finger traced the line of the graph through various dips of disapproval. "You see, the public just doesn't want to be educated."

"What's the program about?" I asked.

"Old coins," he said.

Old Glory, however, had saved the program graph from disaster, but not much less. As the flag had waved on the television screen and the orchestra played "The Star-Spangled Banner" the graph began to rise. But it didn't rise very far. It stuck. By the time the orchestra had finished, according to Dr. Gallup's chart the best reaction the American National Anthem had aroused from a representative cross-section of Americans ranged only between "neutral" and "good."

Curious! Why hadn't the anthem blown the top right off the graph with sheer enthusiasm? What happened, that these meticulously selected citizens should rate hound dogs higher than their country's flag? Had the television cameraman perhaps, through error, flown the flag upside down? Had the orchestra failed to do the music justice? Was a large section of the audience displaying—I hesitate to say it—un-Americanism? Or had it simply stood up respectfully during the Anthem, thereby releasing connective fingers from the Hopkins Televoter and automatically neglecting to register its collective patriotic emotions on the graph?

QUESTION OF BEHAVIOR

I don't know. I put a few queries, but Dr. Gallup's expert never did explain the phenomenon. But somehow or other I think that, now Dr. Gallup and his colleagues Elmo Roper and Archibald M. Crossley have retired to their IBM machines to ponder and reconcile the laws of probability and the unpredictability of human behavior, they must be asking themselves pretty much the same sort of question.

Democracy Jive

Edmonton Journal

We are rather disturbed by reports of various groups of Japanese taking up boogie-woogie as part of the process of becoming peaceful and democratic. It is natural enough for them to pick up this form of "music" and "dancing" from American occupation troops, but what connection has it with democracy—let alone peace?

How the Japanese will react to it no one can say. But recalling that Hitler was inspired to his unfortunate career by the music of Wagner, we hate to think what some Japanese samurai might accomplish after a course of Spike Jones.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

ALMOST obscured by the crisis growing out of Communist aggression is one of the greatest humanitarian advances in history.

India's millions of Untouchables — descendants of generations of pitiable outcasts from society—have had restored to them the birthright which God gave them but which man took away. The new Dominion's Constituent Assembly has written into its draft constitution a provision outlawing untouchability and returning to these oppressed people their inherent rights.

Some 60,000,000 lowly folk will be affected by this emancipation when it is ratified.

It is significant, as bespeaking the sincerity of this effort at reparation, that the chairman of the drafting committee is the famous Dr. B. R. Ambedkar. The doctor himself belongs to the class of Untouchables.

LIFE CHAMPION

Ambedkar has spent his life championing the cause of his people. He is a man of deep sympathies and wide understanding.

History has provided few human tragedies like the fate of the Untouchables. They have been so low that they haven't even been included in the Hindu caste system. They are below and outside it.

All Hindu places are divided in two sections—the village proper where the ordinary folk live, and the settlement of the Untouchables. The Moslems don't have a caste system and their villages aren't so divided.

The Untouchables have had no economic independence. All ways of earning a living have been blocked to them, except in the case of the lowest tasks. They have been barred from the village well, have had no place to wash, and have been compelled to wear dirty clothes.

PLEASANT FOLK

I visited some of these poor devils, in their little mud huts outside the village. They were friendly, pleasant folk, pitifully grateful for a kindly glance.

Now the new India, working under leadership of such men as Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, is undertaking to frame a new bill of rights. Nehru is a Kashmiri Brahmin, highest of all the Hindu castes. A Brahman is supposed to be defiled if even the shadow of an Untouchable falls across him. But Nehru is a humanitarian—a disciple of Gandhi.

UNDISCIPLINED WORMS

T.D.F. in the Ottawa Citizen

A naturalist says that if leaves are left on a lawn, the worms will drag them down into their holes and eat them during the winter. But we tried that last fall, and the leaves were still there in the spring. Possibly our worms spent the winter in Florida.

POOR IMPRESSIONS

Financial Post

Montreal, the world's greatest inland port, has not a single waiting room or rest room for the hundreds and thousands of ocean passengers who arrive yearly. Many of these people are coming to Canada for the first time, but at Montreal they must pass through forbidding, dimly lighted, freight sheds, across railway tracks where shunting freight trains may hold up cars or taxis for 10 or 15 minutes.

It is high time the National Harbors Board gave this matter some active consideration. This is not a matter of importance to Montreal alone, but to Canada. Surely it is not too much to expect that the ordinary amenities be provided for overseas visitors and immigrants.

SIGNIFICANT FACT

Winnipeg Free Press

The average citizen, busy in his daily round, may well have missed a significant fact brought out by Hon. Milton F. Gregg, minister of veterans' affairs in his broadcast here on Monday. Mr. Gregg remarked that nine out of every ten veterans of World War II. are now successfully rehabilitated.

Had anyone been able to convince the authorities at Ottawa in 1944 or 1945 that it would be possible, truthfully, to make such a statement three years after the end of the war, he would indeed have been an honored prophet.

Mr. Gregg did not ask credit for the government but sensible people who know that such vast changes cannot occur, painlessly, without wise and careful preparation, will not withhold it.

Elks' Installation At Lake Cowichan; 300 At Banquet

LAKE COWICHAN — Lake Cowichan Lodge No. 293, B.P.O. Elks held installation of officers and banquet in their new home over the week-end. Three hundred attended the banquet.

Dedication of the building will be observed early in January, when Grand Lodge officers will attend.

Past Grand Exalted Ruler for Canada and Newfoundland, Harry Piele, now of Duncan, and district deputy grand exalted ruler Harry James of Nanaimo, were installing officers. Assisting at the ceremonies were: Joseph Heathcote of Nanaimo, past exalted ruler, and Arthur Webb of Duncan, second vice-president of the B.C. Elks Association.

George Grant of Mesachie Lake, past district deputy, installed David Beech as immediate past exalted ruler, and Harry Piele presented him with his "jewel" for that office.

Officers installed were: Andrew Atchison, exalted ruler; Joseph Nichol, leading knight; Walter Holmes, loyal knight; Ted Pauls, lecturing knight; Archie Greenwell, secretary-treasurer; Robert Maxwell, esquire; Robert Beech, chaplain; Henry Perreaux, tyler; Wm. Richards, inner guard; George Rhodes, historian; Harry Dreany, organist; Harry Smith, trustee.

Lake Cowichan lodge now has a membership of 245. The new home, situated on Riverside Drive, is a $40,000 building with much of the work being done voluntarily by members. Paul Bethke, a brother Elk, and a contractor, gave fully of his time and labor to make the building an asset to Lake Cowichan.

Charlie Monti, a member of the Elks, and cook for Hillcrest Lumber Company at Mesachie Lake, cooked the turkey dinner for the banquet. Three hundred Elks and their wives and sweethearts and ladies of the Order of the Royal Purple, attended the affair.

Radio Telephone Urged For Harbor

PORT ALBERNI—Reece Riley, harbormaster here, urged establishment of a radio telephone station at Port Alberni as an aid to navigation, in an address to the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He told the meeting the station could also be of service to the community in case of a breakdown in telegraph and telephone lines, as experienced here recently, when the district was isolated for nearly a week. Chamber members decided to investigate further the possibility of getting radio phone communication from here.

8 Candidates Now For Port Council

PORT ALBERNI—Three more men have announced their candidature for Port Alberni council, bringing to eight the number of candidates.

C. M. Tassie, William Johnstone and Michael Praisley are the latest to throw their hats in the ring. Other candidates are: Ald. A. C. Flaagan for re-election; Ald. Maurice Wren, for re-election; J. W. Harris, former alderman; W. C. Hamilton, for many years mayor of the city, and William Burnip, auctioneer.

Former Electrician Of Ladysmith Dies

LADYSMITH (CP) — Terrell Reid, 48, former city electrician, died here Saturday. Born in Vancouver, he came to Ladysmith in 1930, retiring two years ago because of illness.

Surviving are his widow, a daughter and a son and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Reid, all of Ladysmith.

Re-elect Trustees For Courtenay Area

COURTENAY — Re-elected for two-year terms on the school board of District 71 are Mrs. M. C. Christie, representing the Courtenay extra-municipal area, and Mrs. B. Radford, representing Comox, at a meeting of rural school representatives in Courtenay High School.

Military Funeral For Ruth C. Gilson

LADYSMITH — Full military honors were accorded Ruth Christina Gilson, 26, former member of the C.W.A.C., who died Wednesday in Victoria Veterans' Hospital and was buried at Ladysmith Friday.

Miss Gilson served overseas with the C.W.A.C. Members of Ladysmith Branch 171, Canadian Legion, were pallbearers and a legion service was conducted at the graveside, including sounding of the Last Post. Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh conducted services in St. John's Anglican Church.

Thought Fire Victim, Woman Kills Self

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Anni Maria Saariaho, 53, believed originally to have died in a fire which destroyed her farm home near Lappe, Ont., Nov. 14, Saturday committed suicide by strangling herself in a cell block at the district jail here, provincial police said.

Miss Saariaho, missing for almost a week after the fire, was later found huddled in a barn on her property. Charred bones in the debris left by the fire and thought at first to be human, turned out to be those of a dog.

Miss Saariaho, who had been charged with arson, was to have appeared today in magistrate's court.

EUROPEAN AID SHOWS RESULTS—American funds are doing a big job in Europe, and here's a concrete example. This flour mill in Trieste was almost completely destroyed during the war, but U.S. aid funds rebuilt it into the largest and most modern plant of its kind in the Mediterranean area. It's now handling Marshall Plan flour for Trieste and Austria, and its silos hold 30,000 tons of grain.

Bank President Stresses Need To Fight Inflation

MONTREAL — The need for further action in the campaign against inflation was stressed by the president of the Bank of Montreal, B. C. Gardner, in his address today to the bank's 131st annual meeting. He linked this immediate need with the general problem of securing an all-round increase in productivity.

"The nation's productive mechanism," explained Mr. Gardner, "has been taxed to capacity, but its temperature, in terms of price level, has been rising a good deal more rapidly than its actual output." Although sound finance could do much to ease the inflationary pressure, the limits of further economic advance in Canada, he believed, were physical rather than financial.

Obviously, he continued, it was impossible to create an oasis of prosperity within Canada with continued disequilibrium in the world outside, but "in those forces under our own control there are still some important elements of potential progress." Higher all-round productivity was the basic long-term aim, and this depended ultimately upon speeding up the rate of technical advance.

Mr. Gardner suggested two ways in which inflationary tendencies might be curbed. The philosophy and techniques of cheap or easy money, he said, had been developed in a period of deflation and unemployment, but they still prevailed under today's reversed conditions. It seemed, therefore, that there would be a definite advantage in introducing a further element of flexibility into the interest rate structure. Further, it was highly desirable that a higher proportion of corporate financing should be done in equity form rather than through the issue of additional debt.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

The general manager, Gordon R. Ball, informed shareholders that the bank's total assets stood at $1,991,000,000 and total deposits at $1,877,000,000, both standing at the highest level in history.

Mr. Ball noted a levelling-off of both commercial and personal loans. The business activity of the postwar years had moderated, and many of the bank's customers were adopting a more cautious attitude in their commitments in view of rising prices and costs. "In the small loan field," he added, "the record of repayment has been good and it is evident that advances of this type can serve a useful and constructive purpose if kept within the ability of borrowers to meet out of normal income."

Advances to the grain trade and loans to farmers and primary producers showed a substantial increase, a development that the bank welcomed wholeheartedly. Loans under the Farm Improvement Loans Act were 50 per cent higher than in 1947.

Junior Chamber Campaigns To Get Citizens To Vote

"Get out and vote" is the advice and plea of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The campaign urging citizens to exercise their franchise in Thursday's civic election is being carried on by Junior Chamber members by telephone and newspaper. It was started by the group in 1946 to obtain greater response at the polls on election days.

Members are contacting as many voters as possible by telephone requesting them to go to the Public Market on Dec. 9 and cast their vote. A committee of 19 is making the calls.

Voters requiring transportation will be taken to the polls.

Percy Frampton is head of the campaign committee, aided by Bill Walker and Stanley Roberts.

OTHER PLANS

Other plans of the Junior Chamber include a general membership dance to be held at the Crystal Garden Dec. 18 and a Christmas party for the children of the Protestant Orphanage Dec. 22. Joe Manton and John Rockingham, respectively, are in charge of arrangements.

George Elford, Bill Walker and Bill Morrison are handling plans for the Junior Chamber's annual bridge tournament in which more than 350 are expected to participate. An announcement regarding the tournament is expected next month.

Canadians Capture 14 Championships, 37 Firsts At Show

CHICAGO (CP) — Livestock and grains from the lush farmlands of Canada captured 14 championships and 37 first-place awards in Chicago's 49th International Livestock Exposition and Grain and Hay Show.

Official figures released as the big, eight-day show closed Saturday showed Ontario exhibitors caught 12 titles and 34 firsts while Alberta took two championships and three firsts.

Entrants from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia did not place among the winners, but were well up in second and third rankings.

Exhibitors from the United States won 250 championships and 537 first-place awards.

Exposition officials said the Canadians showed up well, despite their seemingly low number of victories. They pointed out that in the livestock divisions, for example, Canadians had 135 head competing in a field of 10,500 animals, the vast bulk of them U.S.-bred.

The exposition shattered records all along the line. Attendance climbed to nearly 400,000 while sales of livestock on auction zoomed over the $2,500,000 mark.

As was expected, Canadians made their best showing in grains, capturing three coveted kingships and a number of firsts.

Number Of Junior Chambers In B.C. Second In Canada

British Columbia now has the second largest number of Junior Chambers of Commerce in Canada, 20, it was learned today.

Latest addition is a new unit at Smithers which was opened Nov. 18. It is the first of 10 new branches the organization hopes to start by next June.

Officials state that the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Canada will more than double its present size in the next few years.

Brent Murdoch, provincial president of the Junior Chamber, and Mac Chapin, Kelowna, national vice-president, said on their return from a western executive meeting in Calgary that the organization plans to play a large part in aiding the dollar conservation program and in developing the tourist industry of the nation.

The International Junior Chamber movement will hold its annual convention in Brussels, Belgium, in April.

Miss R. V. Smith of Norwich, England, recently received a Christmas card posted in 1907. The sender died years ago.

Fewer New Cars In B.C. Than In 1947

A decrease of 1,017 in the number of new cars registered in the province from March 1 to Oct. 31 this year against the same period in 1947, indicates the effect of import restrictions on American automobiles.

Total registrations of all cars in B.C. to the end of October this year are 189,216 as compared to 165,077 in 1947, according to the Motor Vehicles branch's monthly report for October.

There were 26,674 more people driving on B.C. roads at Oct. 31, 1948 than at the same time a year before, the report continues.

With most drivers getting their licenses in the spring, only 4,647 of the 267,740 issued during the period were given out during October.

During October 2,608 drivers examinations were conducted and 698 learners' licenses issued.

Mayor Expresses Belief City Cannot Escape Mill Rate Rise

Belief that the city cannot escape a rise in the mill rate in 1949, was expressed today by Mayor Percy George.

He also expressed himself absolutely against pagging the 1 mill rate in 1949 as was done in 1948, when it was set at 45½ mills.

"Pegging the mill rate is not economically sound—it is just putting off the evil day," he said. "It just cannot be done. We cannot maintain services to the degree warranted in an expanding community and at the same time take care of the various extra demands."

While he would not hazard a guess on what the mill rate might be, Mayor George said it was his personal opinion that it would be up, particularly in view of the demands of all sections of the community for increased services.

"All are clamoring for improved health, social services and roads," he said. "If people demand additional services they must pay for them.

"I am not unmindful of the large number of people in Victoria on fixed incomes and it is with regret that I express the belief I do with regard to an increased mill rate."

In his annual report to the people of Victoria Saturday night, Mayor George sounded a warning that everything pointed to an increased city budget for 1949, but that the increase was an "imponderable."

"One must consider the matter of school costs with its attendant expansion and demands by teachers which may be considerable," he said.

NEW REVENUES

He said the city was faced with demands for increased wages in keeping with the cost-of-living rises. On the other side of the ledger, however, the mayor referred to two new revenues accruing to the city.

"Increased land assessments in 1949 as a result of sales of tax sale properties and increased valuation of land in the business section and improvements as a result of new construction, which at the present tax rate will bring an extra amount of $116,000 over that of 1948," he said.

"The social security tax of 3 per cent is expected to yield the city in 1949, more than $264,000 originally estimated."

Mayor George said that "in spite of unforseen demands and expenditures, "the council had striven to keep within the budget of $3,500,000, though under considerable pressure at times. He paid tribute to Ald. F. N. Cabeldu for his work on the Greater Victoria Water District.

Says Freight Rate Evidence Presented Unfairly In B.C.

OTTAWA (CP) — Charges that British Columbia is being treated unfairly in the presentation of freight-rate evidence by the railways were made today before the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Counsel for the coast province declared the railways were blocking the expeditious hearing of freight-rate issues.

Spokesmen for the carriers denied the accusations.

The exchange came as the board resumed hearings on an application from British Columbia for removal of the "mountain differential" rate on some freight hauls over the Rockies.

Previous evidence on the mountain rate—which is 1¼ times the prairie scale—had been taken in the west during the fall.

Today, Attorney-General Gordon Wismer of British Columbia opened the attack on the railways by declaring that they had failed to supply to the provinces certain advance information dealing with their evidence in this case.

Salvation Army Man Dies In 68th Year

James Turton, for 40 years associated with the Victoria Citadel Corps of the Salvation Army, died suddenly Sunday in his 68th year.

Born in Hampshire, Eng., Mr. Turton came to this city in 1908. He was acting corps sergeant-major at the time of his death.

Interment will be at Royal Oak, following services at the Salvation Army Citadel, 75 Pandora Avenue, at 2 Wednesday afternoon.

Frederick D. Meules pleaded guilty to theft of a leather purse containing $10, the property of Wilbur R. Thompson, from a downtown rooming place last week, when he appeared before Magistrate H. C. To Spend $26,000 On Advertising Pacific Northwest

The Evergreen Playground Association, made up of tourist trade groups in Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver and Victoria, will spend $26,000 in advertising the Pacific northwest as a tourist mecca in 1949.

At a meeting in Vancouver Sunday, delegates appointed a committee to plan an advertising campaign.

Included in plans are the placing of ads in leading California newspapers and possibly in papers in Arizona and Texas. In addition, it is planned to insert ads in automobile club publications on the Pacific coast.

On the committee are Charles Hunlock, Seattle, chairman; Dick Baker, Vancouver; Paul Sceva, Tacoma, and George I. Warren, Victoria.

The committee is expected to map out the intensive advertising campaign at a meeting within the next two weeks.

At Sunday's meeting, M. Leo Sweeney, Vancouver, was elected president of the Evergreen Playground Association, and W. J. Clark, president of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, was named a vice-president.

Ban Cigarette Sale On Toronto Sabbath

TORONTO (CP) — There were lots of law-breakers in Toronto Sunday — residents who slipped into drug stores and restaurants to buy cigarettes, and the persons who sold them.

Sales were in defiance of a police notice that those selling cigarettes on Sunday would lose their licenses.

Inspector Charles Greenwood said no extra men were put on during the day to hunt violators of a by-law banning cigarette sales on Sundays. The notice was directed not at those who sold a few packages of cigarettes but at stores using their license to sell groceries, cameras and even hardware, police said.

Car Dives Into Bowker Creek

A Super Service wrecking car was required to haul the car of James R. W. Sykes, 1915 Mayfair Drive, out of swollen Bowker Creek at 3.25 Sunday morning, city police reported.

Police said Sykes turned off the main road into a lane. He believed the lane carried through, but suddenly came to where the creek blocked it off and before he could stop the car it dived into the creek. No injuries were sustained, the car apparently being undamaged.

False Pretences Trial Adjourned

Trial of Joseph Steven Carlow, charged with obtaining $40 from Thelma Simmons by means of a worthless cheque, opened this morning before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court.

Carlow will also face trial on another worthless cheque count and one alleging forgery. James Proudfoot is defence counsel. In all cases trial will be before Magistrate Hall.

Today's case was adjourned to tomorrow to call one more prosecution witness, the person who actually handed over the cash.

One Car In Accident Did Not Stop At Scene

Considerable damage was done to a car driven north on Blanshard Street by William A. A. Hill, 3608 Douglas Street, when it was in collision with a car proceeding west on Fort Street at 2 Sunday morning. City police said the other car did not stop.

Passengers in the Hill car were Verna Hill and J. G. Beal, 2885 Sinclair Road.

In the same report police said a man telephoned the station at 2.07 and said he had been in an accident at Fort and Vancouver and had gone on without stopping. Court action is pending against this driver for failing to remain at the scene of an accident, police said.

Criminal Assizes will reopen at the courthouse Tuesday with Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane presiding. The court was adjourned late last month following the trial of Jacob E. Wied, who was convicted of murder.

No Serious Damage As Quake Rocks Southern California

LOS ANGELES (CP)—A rolling quake, felt in many parts of Southern California Saturday, damaged windows and sent hundreds of persons rushing into the streets. But there were no reports of death or severe injury.

In Los Angeles, where the quake was timed at 2.43 p.m. P.D.T. a crowd of more than 100,000 had just filed out of the Memorial Coliseum where Southern California and Notre Dame played to a 14-14 football tie.

In downtown Los Angeles, police said a water tank collapsed. There were many reports of plaster cracks, broken dishes and stopped clocks. The quake was centred in the isolated hills 100 miles east of Los Angeles. In the San Bernardino Mountains north of Banning, it caused landslides.

In the winter resort town of Palm Springs, some 20 miles south of Banning, police said the rear of a furniture shop collapsed and plate glass windows were broken.

Other cities in the general area—Twenty-Nine Palms and Indio, among them, reported severe shocks. In Indio, the police desk sergeant released his prisoners into the jailyard, a liquor store reported heavy damage as stocks tumbled to the floor, merchandise bounced off shelves in markets. A bank vault was sprung in Twenty-Nine Palms. Pavement showed cracks.

Seismologists reported the quake about equal in severity to one in April, 1947, which centred in a remote desert area northeast of here. Only the isolated nature of the country, said the experts, prevented serious damage and possible loss of life.

The tremor was felt in a band extending from Santa Barbara and Fresno on the north to San Diego and El Centro on the south, and east to the Colorado River.

In quake conscious Long Beach, where Southern California's last quake of disaster status occurred 16 years ago, resident report hearing a rumble preceding the rocking tremor.

The Liverpool liner Staffordshire, a troopship throughout and since the war, has been demobilized and handed back to her owners.

Accompanies Husband On Visit To Victoria

MRS. JOHN DAVID EATON

During the next three days Mr. and Mrs. John David Eaton will be visitors in Victoria, staying at the Empress Hotel. Mrs. Eaton is active in cultural and service organizations in her home city, Toronto. She is a member of the women's committee of the Toronto Symphony, the women's committee of Toronto Art Gallery, and on the board of the Infants' Homes of Toronto. Mrs. Eaton accompanied her husband when he came west to be present at ceremonies attendant on the transfer of David Spencer Ltd. to T. Eaton Company. They have a family of four sons, aged 11, 10, 6 and 3.—(Harry Filion Photograph)

Personal Notes

Mrs. E. N. Horsey has returned to her home on Joan Crescent, following a week spent with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Horsey, West Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Garven with their small sons, John and Bill, who left Victoria last week to make their home in Vancouver, are at present guests at Sylvia Hotel. Mr. Garven was recently appointed city traffic manager of Trans-Canada Airways in Vancouver.

Mrs. J. W. Fisher was a Sunday tea-hour hostess at her home on Athlone Drive to honor her sister, Mrs. V. S. Cass, who is leaving shortly to join her husband at Halifax. Miss Peggy Wharton presided at the tea table and assisting the hostess as serviteurs were Miss Helen Baird and Miss Joan Pattinson.

Misss Muriel Greig and Mr. William Nickells arrived by plane from Toronto to attend the marriage of the former's sister, Miss June Greig to Mr. Marshall E. Treble, which took place Saturday evening. Also among guests was the bride's brother, Mr. Donald Greig of Vancouver.

Mrs. Henry Esson Young and her daughter, Miss Mary Young, will entertain at an after-five party today at their home on Oliver Street when their guests will be members of the Victoria branch of the University of British Columbia Alumni Association. Later, the guests will attend an alumni dinner at the Empress Hotel, where Mr. Kenneth Caple, regional director of Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in Vancouver, will be the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lloyd returned to their home on Tillicum Road Sunday following a visit in Vancouver where they were guests at Georgia Hotel. Mrs. Lloyd, who traveled to Vancouver at the beginning of last week, to visit family and friends at Crescent Beach, was joined by Mr. Lloyd Friday. He attended the convention of Professional Engineers held at Georgia Hotel over the week-end.

Lt.-Col. R. D. Travis, M.B.E. (E.D.) and officers of the Canadian Scottish Regiment will hold their annual New Year's Eve ball in the Bay Street Armory on Dec. Dec. 31. His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who is honorary colonel of the regiment, and Mrs. Charles A. Banks, will be among the guests attending. Major Eric Stewart, mess secretary, and various committees are in charge of decorations, receiving guests and other arrangements for the holiday event.

Miss Ethel Wilson, who will be married shortly, was presented with a silver tray from her associates in the Division of Vital Statistis and Health Department, on the occasion of her departure. The presentation was made by J. D. B. Scott, director of vital statistics. Miss Wilson was also honored when, on behalf of members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Choir, Mr. C. C. Warren, choir leader, presented her with a trilight lamp. The gift was accompanied by a corsage bouquet of rosebuds and best wishes of fellow members of the choir.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Aldred entertained at their Kerr Avenue home Saturday evening in honor of their son, Ronald, on the occasion of his 21st birthday. During the evening refreshments were served buffet style. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. G. Fieldhouse, Mr. and Mrs. H. Nuttall, Misses Doris Collings, Vicki Palmer, Betti Dingwell, Doris Schzitzler, Polly Heitzman, Mary Molliet, Roseanna Renfrew, Gladys Wallace, Marie Kerr, Louise Gigliotti, Sis Chungranes, Margaret Stuart, Katharine Bray, Chrissie Griffiths, Lorna Latham, Norma Wright, Lois Digby, Messrs Pete Barrie, Michael Coleman, Edward McDonald, Graham Robe, John Schoufele, Michael Kilgour "Buz" Long, Dennis Ingall, Ronald Mousley, Michael Pretty, Ed Bourke, Murray Cliff, Bob Kroeger, Jack Thomas, Ed Biggar, Art Lees and Fergus Hunter.

June Greig, Marshall Treble United In Candlelit Service

Lighted candles, profusions of pink and white chrysanthemums placed before the chancel rail, and dainty posies marking guest pews, created the setting for the marriage of Miss Joyce June Greig and Marshall E. Treble, R.C.N., Saturday evening at 8 at Metropolitan United Church.

Rev. A. E. Whitehouse performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Greig, 1880 Greatford Place, Oak Bay, and the groom stationed aboard H.M.C.S. Antigonish, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Treble, Hutonville, Ont., formerly of Toronto.

Escorted by her father, the bride was gowned in white slipper satin. A peplum over the full, flared skirt formed bustle detailing at the back of her gown style with lily point sleeves, net yoke outlined with satin roses and snug bodice.

A tiara headdress of orange blossoms and lily of the valley held the bride's chapel veil, and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and scarlet roses.

Pastel-toned gowns were worn by a trio of bridal attendants.

Miss Mary Cadger, who came by plane from New Westminster to attend the bride as honor maid, was gowned in ice green brocaded satin. Miss Marjorie Robinson and Miss Norma Greig, sister of the bride, wore identical frocks of mauve and peach taffeta, styled with off-shoulder necklines and full skirts.

All wore headdresses and mitts to match their gowns and carried bouquets of chrysanthemums and carnations en tone.

Eddie Haddad stood with the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Bob Lockyer and Bob Stirling.

While the register was being signed, Del Rodgers sang "Through the Years." E. Holloway played traditional wedding music.

A reception followed in the Century Room at Melody Lane. Dr. W. W. Bell, a close family friend, proposed the toast to the bride. Mrs. Greig stood in the receiving line with the bride and groom. Later the couple cut their three-tiered wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Treble are honeymooning at Bridal Falls on the mainland, and will spend several days in Vancouver before returning to make their home at Alkazar Mansions.

With her traveling suit of forest green gabardine, the bride wore brown accessories with matching topcoat, and brown hat with green feather trim. Her corsage bouquet was of gardenias.

Story Hour Treat

A story hour, arranged by Miss Gwen Scott, last Saturday morning at Prince Robert House, was much enjoyed by a group of 50 young children, between the ages of four and eight, who attended. Miss K. Applegate, primary teacher, was in charge of story telling and illustrations. Arranged as a special treat for children, Miss Scott will repeat the idea again next Saturday, between 11 and 12, at Prince Robert House.

$550 Made At Holly Bazaar

Members of the Junior Auxillary to the Protestant Orphanage realized a sum of $550 at their annual holly bazaar, held Saturday afternoon at the home. Proceeds will be used to buy added comforts and clothing for the children.

The affair was opened by Mrs. Walter Luney, president of the ladies committee of the orphanage, and Walter Staneland drew for the prizes.

Attractively decorated stalls were convened as follows: Miss Margaret Loudoun, aprons; Miss Pat Gallaher, babywear; Miss Peggy Lowe, home cooking; Miss Pat Scrivener, candy; Miss Jessie McDowell, plants and flowers and Miss Lorna Burns, fish pond.

Miss Elizabeth Mackie and Miss Elsie Appleyard were co-conveners while Miss Phyllis Mugford was in charge of tea arrangements.

A recent survey shows that most brides receive diamond engagement rings with stones set in palladium or platinum and weighing from 1-3 to 1-2 a carat.

St. John's Guild Bazaar Makes $470

The Christmas sale of work and tea, under auspices of members of St. John's Guild, realized a sum of $470. Alderman Harold Diggon formerly opened the affair at 2.30 and guests were welcomed by the president, Mrs. H. W. B. Stavert, Mrs. George Biddle and Mrs. W. A. Patterson. Mrs. Harold Diggon and Mrs. R. A. Gowan presided at the head tea table. Proceeds will be given to the parish hall building fund.

GOSFIELD, Essex, England (CP)—Twenty women have protested against decision of the all-male parish council not to accept clothing gift parcels from the United States. The council told a woman in California that as Gosfield had no poor families clothes would not be needed from the United States.

Girl Guide Notes

Langford—A meeting of Local Guide and Brownie Association was held at the home of Mrs. H. G. Goodmanson, Langford Lake. Mrs. G. Rantz reported on the tea and sale of work when $37 was realized. Christmas parties for guides and brownies were discussed and it was decided to entertain for brownies, Dec. 16, after school, and for guides, Dec. 28. Mrs. W. Robertson has been appointed Brown Owl, and Mrs. Nan Smith as Tawny Owl. Patrol leaders and seconds will be attending training camp at Sooke, Dec. 18 and 19.

Especially convenient for the small-sized families of ones, twos and threes are the new 6 and 8-ounce cellophane packs of shelled almonds. There is a cup of almonds in the 6-ounce package and 1¼ cups in the 8-ounce package.

Parent-Teacher Groups

Prospect Lake — Plans were made and committee appointed for a dance to be held Friday in Royal Oak Hall, the proceeds to aid community hall building fund, at a meeting of Prospect Lake P.-T.A. Mrs. H. Hetherington reported on the bazaar and Miss A. Curts moved a vote of thanks to the committee. Refreshments followed business meeting. Mrs. H. Deans and Mrs. F. Knight were servers. Next meeting will be held Wednesday at 8 in the school.

North Ward — Members of North Ward P.-T.A. will hold a Christmas bazaar in the school auditorium on Wednesday, the fifth birthday of the association. Mayor Percy E. George will open the affair at 2.30 and there will be stalls of home cooking, candy, sewing, aprons, novelties, contests, hot dogs and balloons. During the tea hour, children of the school will entertain with a short musical program. A whist drive has been planned for Thursday evening and the next regular meeting will take place on Dec. 14.

Margaret Jenkins—The mobile chest X-Ray unit which was in operation at Margaret Jenkins School was attended by 450 residents in the district. Members of the P.-T.A., under leadership of Mrs. W. A. McElmoyle, contributed to the success of the drive by canvassing and attending to clerical duties. Those assisting were: Mesdames A. Unwin, A. Kerr, R. Gardom, W. J. Sweeting, A. F. Davidson, R. Head Of Women's Federation Says Marriage Is Partnership

NEW YORK (AP) — You're way behind the times if you think men want wives who are beautiful but dumb, says Dr. Frances Scott.

Dr. Scott is president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women, an organization with 140,000 members. She is also associate professor of hygiene at a large women's college. In both jobs she meets lots of girls and men.

"I see silly girls who still think they have to do the 'Oh, you big strong man' act," she says. "They don't get second dates.

"College surveys show a man doesn't want a beautiful but dumb wife. He may like such companionship for an evening. But he wants a life partner with a few brains and ability to use them. Partner and partnership are words frequently used by both men and women to express what they want in marriage today."

Dr. Scott—a physician of 30 years' standing—sees this change as typical of times in which the world is juggling more problems than ever before and women have extended their rights and activities to outstrip what they did in the past.

"Another thing to consider is the greatly improved health of women," she says.

"In 1900 we had such a fixed idea that women couldn't do physical activity that mothers didn't want their daughters to take physical training. Now women in industries and nurses and members of the Women's Army Corps, who worked at the front, have shown us that, given good health, today's women can stand as much physical strain as men of comparable strength.

CARPENTRY IS HOBBY

Dr. Scott is a smartly-coiffed, softly-tailored woman with intelligent eyes and a friendly grin. Her creed is balance. She helps keep it in her life by frequent sessions with her carpentry kit. (Her father gave her one when she was five.) In her Northampton, Mass., house she refinished floors, reset doors, changed locks and sawed and put up shelves.

Dr. Scott says she believes the time has come for women to stop talking about women's rights and work harder on their responsibilities, to vote, to hold office and to be at least as interested as men in civic and government affairs.

"We have won most of the legal and civic rights and now we should get out and show what we can do with them," she says.

"In the next few years it is extremely important that two things be done. First, we must see that more qualified women are elected to office and appointed on boards of policy.

"Second, we must qualify more women for those jobs. I cannot see that our communities are well served by government that is about 99 per cent men.

"Men and women look at life differently. A man is a very impersonal sort of being in his business and community. He thinks in terms of money and material. Women think of the world in terms of people — of human relationships.

"What we need is balance created by the thinking of both women and men."

Women's Institute Elects Officers

At the annual meeting of Victoria Women's Institute held Friday in the Y.W.C.A., Mrs. E. S. Blair presided, and was presented with a leather handbag on her retirement. Those elected were Mrs. W. Peden, president; Mrs. D. English, vice-president; Mrs. C. Johns, secretary; Mrs. A. Leisk, treasurer; Mrs. N. Brown, director. Mrs. G. Glover, director on provincial Women's Institute Board, conducted the election. Reports of the year's work were given by conveners of standing committees of agriculture, home economics, social welfare, sick visiting, citizenship and drama group work.

Donations of $50 were made to Royal Jubilee Hospital, $25 to Queen Alexandra Solarium, and donations to the travelers' aid of Y.W.C.A., Local Council of Women, and food parcels to an English institute. Next business meeting will be held Dec. 15 at the Y.W.C.A., it was announced.

Mothers' Union, social evening, St. Mary's Parish Hall, Tuesday at 8, bring refreshments. . . . Princess Alexandra Lodge No. 18, Daughters of England, quarterly meeting, election of officers, Wednesday, 7.30, Orange Hall.

Premier Johnson Officially Opens Felt And Textiles Plant In City

A mass of wool which will shortly become felt carpeting is examined by officials and employees of Felt and Textiles of Canada Ltd., whose 25 Montreal Street plant was officially opened today. From left to right, Philip Fleming, managing director; H Schenken, Australia, general manager of the felt division of Felt and Textiles of Australia, who has been in Vitcoria as an adviser, and T. Nugent and J. Rainey, both of Victoria, employees of the new Canadian industry.

A new and important industry officially goes into operation in Victoria today.

It is Felt and Textiles of Canada Ltd., whose plant at 25 Montreal Street has already exceeded, by 400 yards a day, the original daily production objective of 1,000 yards of "Rambow," a felt carpeting material.

Among officials invited to take part in the opening ceremony are B.C.'s Premier Byron Johnson, members of the provincial cabinet, the Mayor of Victoria and reeves of the surrounding municipalities, officials of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and other officials of Greater Victoria's business world.

Over 250 invitations were issued for the ceremonies to mark the official opening of the plant.

To welcome the invited guests to the plant, W. C. Mainwaring, chairman of the board of directors of Felt and Textile, came over to Victoria from the mainland.

For months past, as the plant was groomed to take its part in building up industries of Vancouver Island, shipments of wool have been coming in to Victoria, brought by ships from Australia.

Technical advisers have been sent from Felt and Textiles of Australia to aid in getting the new industry here into operation. Among these is H. Schnenken, general manager of the felt division of the Australian company.

'Old Bill' Subject Of Creator's Talk

VANCOUVER (CP) — Capt. Bruce Bairnsfather, British soldier-cartoonist who created the famous "Old Bill" character during the First World War, discussed his brain child with an audience here Saturday night.

About 800 persons braved snow and rain to follow Old Bill's search for a "better 'ole" in war and peace.

Brainsfather said "Old Bill" was not so much a creation as a state of mind that has brought the British people through two wars, and is now taking them through the austerity period.

Rudderless Tug Adrift Off Alaska

SEATTLE (AP)—A small tug with four men aboard was reported by the U.S. Coast Guard Sunday night adrift in heavy seas between Prince of Wales and Warren Islands, about 100 miles northwest of Ketchikan, Alaska.

The cutter Hemlock was dispatched from Ketchikan in response to the tug Chilcoot's distress call asking immediate assistance. The 65-foot craft reported it had lost its rudder during an Alaska storm.

The coast guard said the Chilcoot was from Ketchikan and normally plied the inside passage from there to Juneau.

Princess' Night Life Starts Tempest In London Teapot

LONDON (AP)— Is Princess Margaret getting to be too much of a playgirl?

Staying out late at night, that is.

The mass-circulation Sunday Pictorial—which earlier in the year suggested Princess Elizabeth was seen around too much in cafe society—raised the question about Princess Margaret Sunday.

It was prompted by Princess Margaret's round of dates last week, which made the front pages with stories and features. Displayed particularly was a picture of Margaret in a low-cut, off-the-shoulder gown, dancing the samba with a tall adolescent partner at a nurses' benefit ball in Bloomsbury.

The 22-year-old Marquess of Blandford squired her to the exclusive 400 Club after the ball and had his fortune told. Margaret refused with a blush to have hers told. One report said the fortune-teller informed the marquess he's be married in a year, but couldn't say who the bride would be.

Palace sources, speaking unofficially about the Pictorial article, merely asked the question:

"Can't a girl have a good time occasionally—even if she is a Princess — without somebody raising the question that she's hoity-toity?"

And old John Bull himself in the trams and pubs and buses and queues, what does he think? The most frequent reaction is:

"Let her have her fun while she can."

PALMIST DISAPPOINTED

Meanwhile Lillian Clinton, palmist and clairvoyant who says she uses her psychic arts for "charity only," is disappointed that Princess Margaret declined to have her palm read at a charity ball last week.

The 34-year-old Miss Clinton said that she gave a reading to Princess Margaret's young escort, the Marquess of Blandford, but added:

"I never discuss any readings afterwards and have not told anyone else about it."

She said she was introduced to the Princess by her companion, Lady Spencer Churchill, who asked Princess Margaret if she would like a reading.

"The Princess suggested I should read Lady Churchill's palm first. I did so and then gave a reading to the marquess. Then when I offered to read the Princess' palm she said 'no thank you. You are much too good'."

Army For Korea

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A military spokesman said Saturday South Korea hopes to train an army of 100,000 men next summer to defend the young republic against any Communist invasion or uprising. In Tokyo, it was reported the United States would be asked to provide South Korea with a small air force and an enlarged coast guard to combat increased smuggling activities.

SERVING VICTORIA FOR NEARLY NINE DECADES

Ontario Men Killed

COOKSTOWN, Ont. (CP) — Two persons were killed near here Saturday night as they stood beside a car they had helped push out of a ditch. Seven others were injured, none critically.

Dead are: Robert Ney, 71-year-old Cookstown farmer, and Robert Dales, 32, of Alliston, 10 miles west of here.

Police said a second automobile, driven by William Berry of Alliston, swerved to miss the car on the highway and hit the two men.

A mine detector, costing £58, 10s ($236), will be used for locating water mains and service pipes in Bridlington.

To Meet Tuesday

LUXTON—Election of officers for the year will take place at a meeting of the Luxton Ratepayers' Association in Luxton Hall, Tuesday night at 8. Annual reports will be read by the Luxton Hall committee and election of hall committee will also be held.

Three Billions New Capital Investment, Canadian High

By CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's economy has been expanded this year by the biggest investment in its history.

Government economists estimate that by the year's end $3,000,000,000 will have been spent in new capital investment, a far greater amount than in any previous year.

The sum is about 25 per cent above the 1947 previous record figure of $2,400,000,000, and it is $200,000,000 greater than the investment forecast made early this year by the reconstruction department.

Additional investment for repair and maintenance of existing plants also runs to a high figure. The estimate early this year was for $1,200,000,000.

The big jump in new investment will not represent actual physical expansion to the full extent of the increased spending. Much of it goes in increased construction costs any higher prices for machinery and equipment.

HIGHER COSTS

Experts estimate that higher costs account for about 15 per cent of the expenditures. That means that, of the 25 per cent jump in spending, 10 per cent is real expansion.

The figures cover spending by industries, government, institutions, farmers and house builders.

A striking feature of the 1948 investment is in its comparison with war expansion. During all the war years, Canada invested just $4,500,000,000 in plant and equipment, largely in government funds.

For this year, private business alone will have accounted for more than one-third of that figure.

During the war years, the expansion in output was absorbed largely by government spending for military supplies. In 1944, the government absorbed 43 per cent of total output.

Ear Lost In Brawl Found And Replaced

CALGARY (CP) — Edgar Williams of Calgary was missing one ear for a short period during the week-end.

Taken to hospital for medical attention following a street brawl, it was found his left ear had been bitten off during the fight. Ambulance men who had taken Williams to hospital returned to the fight scene and found the missing ear. The attending doctor sewed it back in place.

Eatons May Build Royal City Store

VANCOUVER (CP)—The T. Eaton Company, British Columiba Limited, is reported to be planning construction of a modern department store in New Westminster. It is not known when the work will be started.

The site is that formerly occupied by the old New Westminster city market.

Seven Irish Peers May Lose Lords Seats

LONDON (AP) — Seven veteran Irish peers may lose their seats in the House of Lords as a result of Eire's plan for breaking its last link with the crown.

The seven are the only survivors among the last 28 elected by the Irish peers to serve as "representative peers" in the House of Lords under the 1801 Act of Union between Britain and Ireland.

Cabbages are being ploughed back by Kent farmers because, they say, it is unprofitable to pick them.

The DOCTOR Says:

GLAUCOMA MAY CAUSE BLINDNESS

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Glaucoma is a serious disease of the eyes and an important cause of blindness. It is estimated that, of the 200,000 blind in the United States, about 20,000 have lost their vision because of glaucoma.

Glaucoma is rather rare before the age of 40, and certainly comes increasingly often with the advancing years. When the diagnosis is made early, and proper treatment is started promptly, however, complete loss of vision can generally be prevented. The exact cause is not known.

In glaucoma, there is an increase in pressure inside the eyeball. An attack usually begins with a severe pain in one eye, a slight swelling of the eyelids with watering of the eye, and a blood-accumulation of the eyeball which looks like a general inflammation of the eye.

There is, of course, great loss of vision. The increased hardness of the eyeball can usually be felt easily. The pain is extremely severe and is often felt all through the head. The hardness of the eye is caused by blockage of the flow of fluids within the eye, so that liquid accumulates in the eyeball.

There are medicines available which are extremely effective in most cases of acute glaucoma. Often, however, patients have to continue to use them the rest of their lives. Sometimes an operation, which makes new paths for the drainage of the eye fluids, is necessary to preserve sight.

SPECIAL CARE NEEDED

Because of its great danger to sight, glaucoma is an important disease which must not be neglected and which requires individual attention. Each patient must have the special care which his particular case demands. Failure to follow advice, or to continue conscientiously with the medicines or other treatment recommended, may result in blindness. Diagnosis should be made and treatment begun at the earliest possible moment.

Question: What does "diastolic and "systolic" mean, when a physician takes one's blood pressure? Which is the more important?

Answer: The systolic pressure is the pressure of the blood in the arteries after the heart has contracted and forced out the blood. The diastolic pressure is when the heart is relaxed and the pressure is consequently lowered. The diastolic is probably the more significant.

Casualties, Prisoners Of Little Concern To Russian Commanders

Installment 30—Final

Marshal Zhukov and I frequently discussed the campaigns of the war. Because of his special position for several years in the Red Army he had had a longer experience as a responsible leader in great battles than any other man of our time. It seems that he was habitually sent to whatever Russian sector appeared at the moment to be the decisive one. By his descriptions of the composition of the Russian Army, of the terrain over which it fought, and of his reasons for his strategic decisions, it was clear that he was an accomplished soldier.

The marshal was astonished when I told him that each of our divisions, with reinforcing battalions, was maintained at a strength of 17,000. He said that he tried to maintain his divisions at about 8,000, but that frequently in a long campaign, some would be depleted to a strength of 3,000 to 4,000.

Highly illuminating to me was his description of the Russian methods of attacking through mine fields. The German mine fields, covered by defensive fire, were tactical obstacles that caused us many casualties and delays.

Marshal Zhukov gave me a matter-of-fact statement of his practice, which was, roughly:

"There are two kinds of mines, one is the personnel mine and the other is the vehicular mine. When we come to a mine field our infantry attacks exactly as if it were not there. The losses we get from personnel mines we consider only equal to those we would have gotten from machine guns and artillery if the Germans had chosen to defend that particular area with strong bodies of troops instead of with mine fields. The attacking infantry does not set off the vehicular mines, so after they have penetrated to the far side of the field they form a bridgehead, after which the engineers come up and dig out channels through which our vehicles can go."

I had a vivid picture of what would happen to any American or British commander if he pursued such tactics, and I had an even more vivid picture of what the men in any one of our divisions would have had to say about the matter had we attempted to make such a practice a part of our tactical doctrine. Americans assess the cost of war in terms of human lives, the Russians in the over-all drain on the nation.

Little Thought Of Troops' Morale

As far as I could see, Zhukov had given little concern to methods that we considered vitally important to the maintenance of morale among American troops; systematic rotation of units, facilities for recreation, short leaves and furloughs, and, above all, the development of techniques to avoid exposure of men to unnecessary battlefield risks, all of which, although common practices in the Allied armies, seemed to be largely unknown in his.

The basic differences between American and Russian attitudes in the handling of men were illustrated on another occasion. While talking to a Russian general I mentioned the difficult problem that was imposed upon us at various periods of the war by the need to care for so many German prisoners.

I remarked that they were fed the same rations as were our own soldiers. In the greatest astonishment he asked, "Why did you do that?" I said, "Well, in the first place my country was required to do so by the terms of the Geneva Convention. In the second place the German had some thousands of American and British prisoners and I did not want to give Hitler the excuse or justification for treating our prisoners more harshly than he was already doing."

Again the Russian seemed astounded at my attitude and he said, "But what did you care about men the Germans had captured? They had surrendered and could not fight any more." However, these statements did not necessarily mean that the Russians were cruel or were innately indifferent to human life.

The experience of Russia in World War II was a harsh one. The year 1941 saw the entire western portion of that country overrun by the Nazis. From the region of the Volga westward, almost everything was destroyed. When we flew into Russia, in 1945, I did not see a house standing between the western borders of the country and the area around Moscow.

All this would have embittered any people; it would have been completely astonishing if the Russians had not had a more direct and personal vindictiveness toward the Germans and a sterner attitude toward the realities of war than was the case in countries far removed from the scene of hostilities.

I know that in my personal reactions, as the months of conflict wore on, I grew constantly more bitter against the Germans, particularly the Hitler gang. On all sides there was always evidence of the destruction that Hitler's ruthless ambition had brought about.

During the war hundreds of broken-hearted fathers, mothers, and sweethearts wrote me personal letters, begging for some hope that a loved one might still be alive, or, at the very least, for some additional detail as to the manner of his death. Every one of these I answered, and I know of no more effective means of developing an undying hatred of those responsible for aggressive war than to assume the obligation of attempting to express sympathy to families bereaved by it.

Great Victories, Need Huge Casualties

Marshal Zhukov showed little interest in measures that I thought, after Allied experience in North Africa and Europe, should be taken to protect the foot soldier and to increase his individual effectiveness. The Russians viewed measures to protect the individual against fatigue and wounds as possibly too costly. Great victories, they seem to think, inevitably require huge casualties.

I saw Marshal Zhukov for the last time November 7, 1945. It was a Soviet holiday, in honor of which he gave a large reception in Berlin, inviting to it the senior commanders and staff officers of all the Allies.

When I arrived Marshal Zhukov, with his wife and a number of his senior assistants, was standing in the receiving line. He greeted me and then promptly deserted the receiving line. He took his wife by the arm, and the three of us, with an interpreter, retired to a comforable room where were refreshments of all kinds. We talked for two hours.

The tenor of the marshal's conversation was that he believed that we in Berlin had done something to help in the difficult problem of promoting understanding between two nations so diverse in cultural and political conceptions as were the United States and the Soviet Union. He felt that we could accomplish still more. He talked at length about the new United Nations and remarked:

"If the United States and Russia will only stand together through thick and thin success is certain for the United Nations. If we are partners there are no other countries in the world that would dare go to war when we forbade it."

The marshal seemed to be a firm believer in the Communist concept. He said that, as he saw it, the Soviet system of governmen was based upon idealism, and ours upon materialism.

Zhukov Thought Our People Undisciplined

In expanding his idea of this difference he remarked—and introduced an apology because of his criticism—that he felt our selfish in people. He said that system appealed to all that was we induced a man to do things by telling him he might keep what he earned, might say what he pleased, and in every direction allowed him to be largely an undsiciplined, unoriented entity within a great national complex.

He asked me to understand a system in which the attempt was made to substitute for such motivations the devotion of a man to the great national complex of which he formed a part. In spite of my complete repudiation of such contentions and my condemnation of all systems that involved dictatorship, there was no doubt in my mind that Marshal Zhukov was sincere.

The marshal told me that a book written by an American about Russia stated that Marshal Zhukov was shorter by two or three inches than his wife, and that he had two sons. This story irritated him because he saw in it personal disparagement and belittlement.

He and his wife stood up for a moment and he said, "Now you see what kind of lies some of your writers publish about us." And he added, "Also, we have no sons. We have two daughters."

Would Eliminate Disliked Magazines

He referred to a picture of the Generalissimo published by one of our magazines. This was not a personal photograph but was a likeness of a painted portrait that hung in one of the Berlin night clubs. The magazine picture had been taken in such a way that, with seeming intent, the Generalissimo's portrait was photograped in most unfortunate and undignified surroundings.

This literally infuriated the marshal. He turned to me and said: "If a picture of you like this one should appear in a Russian magazine, I would see that the magazine ceased operations at once. It would be eliminated. What are you going to do?"

This called for me to describe the free press of America, but after an earnest and, I thought, eloquent attempt I found that I had made no impression whatsoever. The marshal merely repeated, "If you are Russia's friend you will do something about it."

Correspondence With Zhukov Ends in 1946

Even after I returned to the United States the marshal and I continued, until April, 1946, to correspond on our accustomed friendly terms. In the spring of that year he was relieved from his Berlin command and I have never since heard from him directly. It was rumored that he was out of favor—that for some reason he had fallen from the high place he held in Russian affections and popular esteem during the late months of the war.

One of the speculative reasons given for his virtual disappearance was his known friendship with me. I cannot believe that such was the case because, in spite of that friendship, he always seemed to be profoundly convinced of the essential rectitude of the Communist theory.

ALLIED LEADERS DRINK VICTORY TOAST—In an assembly of the Allied leaders at Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, June 10, 1945, left to right: Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, of Britain; General Dwight D. Eisenhower, U.S.; Marshal Gregor K. Zhukov, of Russia, and Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder of Britain, join in a toast to the victory of the United Nations in the European war. At the same time, Marshal Zhukov presented the Jeweled Order of Victory to Montgomery and Eisenhower, only time the award was presented to a non-Russian.

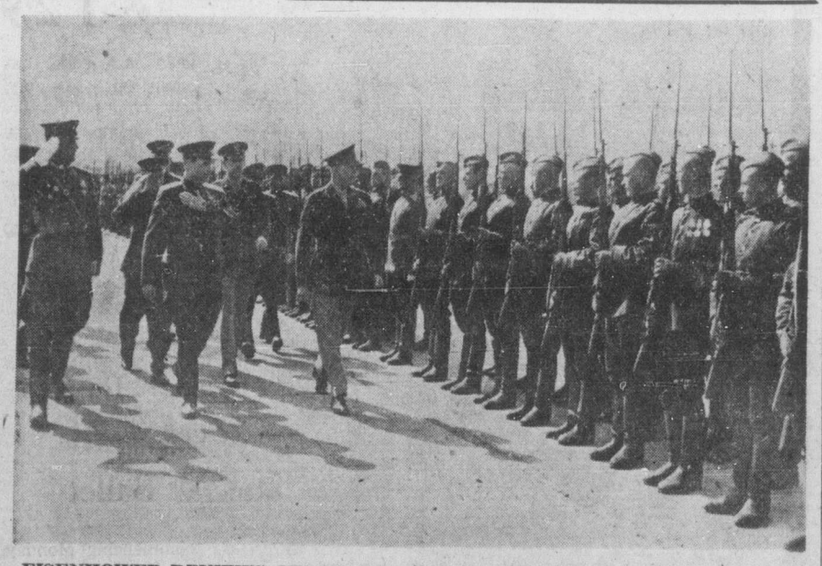
Communists Fear Men Will Cling To Freedom, Last Words Of 'Ike'

The concluding paragraphs of General Dwight Eisenhower's 30,000-word condensed serialization of "Crusade In Europe" are directed straight at the people of the United States. But they are vital and applying equally to the people of all free-loving nations. Here they are:

"We who saw Europe liberated know that the Communistic fear that men will cling to freedom is well founded. It is possible that this truth may be the reason for what appears to be an aggressive intent on the part of the Communists to tear down all governmental structures based upon individual freedom.

"If the men and women of America face this issue as squarely and bravely as their soldiers faced the terrors of battle in World War II, we would have no fear of the outcome. If they will unite themselves as firmly as they did when they provided, with their allies in Europe, the mightiest fighting force of all time, there is no temporal power that can dare challenge them. If they can retain the moral integrity, the clarity of comprehension, and the readiness to sacrifice that finally crushed the Axis, then the free world will live and prosper, and all peoples, eventually, will reach a level of cuture, contentment and security that has never before been achieved."



EISENHOWER REVIEWS GUARD OF HONOR — The Russian Guard of Honor stands smartly at attention as General Eisenhower reviews it after his arrival at Tempelhof Airdrome in Berlin to attend the Big Four conference. With him at left is General Vassily Sokolovsky of the Russian Army, hand on chest.

'Two Mrs. Carrolls' Suspense Story

"The Two Mrs. Carrolls," Warners' exciting new mystery melodrama starring Humphrey Bogart, Barbara Stanwyck and Alexis Smith, opened today at the Oak Bay Theatre. The film also features a fine cast of supporting players including Nigel Bruce, Isobel Elsom and Pat O'Moore. The screenplay based on the stage success of the same name has been made into a top grade film.

It is suspense-laden story of the terrifying effects of one man's love for two women.

Secret Films Of Hitler At Plaza

For the first time on any screen Hitler's secret personal films, confiscated by the U.S. armed forces, showing the life and revels of Hitler and Eva Braum of Berchtesgaden are shown this week at the Plaza Theatre.

The films are not a Hollywood story, but Hitler's own personal movies, startling and authentic.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Barbara Stanwyck, who wouldn't hurt a fly, is mixed up with homicide again. This time, however, she is not the murderess, but the murderee.

Barbara is currently playing Leona Stevenson, the invalid wife who accidentally overhears her own murder being plotted on the telephone in Hal Wallis' picturization of "Sorry, Wrong Number," now at the Capitol Theatre, the suspense drama which has become a crime classic of the air. The part of the husband is being played by rugged Burt Lancaster, no novice himself at the art of celluloid homicide.

Crusade In Europe

He knew that I was an uncompromising foe of Communism because I believed that it was synonymous with dictatorship; he would listen patiently when I said that I hated everything that smacked of statism, and that our whole Western tradition was devoted to the idea of personal liberty. But his own adherence to the Communistic doctrine seemed to come from inner conviction and not from any outward compulsion.

Government's Pledged Word Adhered To

The policy of firm adherence to the pledged word of our government was first challenged shortly after the close of hostilities. Some of my associates suddenly proposed that when so requested by the Russians I should refuse to withdraw American troops from the line of the Elbe to the area allocated to the United States for occupation.

The argument was that if we kept troops on the Elbe the Russians would be more likely to agree to some of our proposals, particularly as to a reasonable division of Austria. To me, such an attitude seemed indefensible.

I always felt that the Western Allies could probably have secured an agreement to occupy more of Germany than we actually did. I believe that if our political heads had been convinced as we were at SHAEF of the certainty of early victory in the West they would have insisted, at Yalta, upon the line of the Elbe as the natural geographic line dividing the eastern and western occupation areas.

This, however, is pure speculation. I have never discussed the matter with any of the individuals directly responsible for the decision.

In any event the Berlin record of those late summer and early autumn months of 1945 represents the peak of post-war cordiality and co-operation that we were ever able to achieve with the Soviet officials. In broader fields, on highest levels, misunderstandings continued to grow and these were inevitably reflected in the local German scene. It is possible, also, that this process worked in reverse.

Americans at that time—or at least we in Berlin—saw no reason why the Russian system of government and democracy as practised by the Western Allies could not live side by side in the world, provided each respected the right, the territory, and the convictions of the other, and each system avoided overt or covert action against the integrity of the other.

But even such a purely practical basis for living together in the world have not been achieved.

The implications of the failure to eliminate aggression and to co-operate effectively are as full of meaning for the world as were the dictatorial and arbitrary acts in the late 1930s of Hitler, Mussolini, and Hirohito. The name of almost every small country of eastern Europe is a reminder to us of the lost objectives so bravely stated in the Atlantic Charter, even before Pearl Harbor Day. Fear, doubt, confusion are the portion of those who fought and won the war with the fervent prayer that at last this was the war to end wars.

Military Preparedness Answer To Communism

Military preparedness alone is an inadequate answer to the problem. Communism inspires and enables its militant preachers to exploit injustices and inequity among men.

The areas in which freedom flourishes will continue to shrink unless the supporters of democracy match Communist fanaticism with clear and common understanding that the freedom of men is at stake; meet Communist-regimented unity with the voluntary unity of common purpose, even though this may mean a sacrifice of some measure of nationalistic pretensions; and, above all, annul Communist appeals to the hungry, the poor, the oppressed, with practical measures untiringly prosecuted for the elimination of social and economic evils that set men against men.

As a world force, democracy is supported by nations that too much and too often act alone, each for itself alone. Nowhere perfect, in many regions democracy is pitifully weak because the separatism of national sovereignty, uselessly prevents the logical pooling of resources, which would produce greater material prosperity within and multiplied strength for defense. Such division may mean ideological conquest.

The democracies must learn that the world is now too small for the rigid concepts of national sovereignty that developed in a time when the nations were self-sufficient and self-dependent for their own well-being and safety. None of them today can stand alone.

We believe individual liberty, rooted in human dignity, is man's greatest treasure. We believe that men, given free expression of their will, prefer freedom and self-dependence to dictatorship and collectivism. From the evidence, it would appear that the Communist leaders also believe this: else why do they attack and attempt to destroy the practice of these concepts? Were they completely confident in the rectitude and appeal of their own doctrine, there would be no necessity for them to follow an aggressive policy. Time would be the only ally they needed if Communism as a spiritual force and moral inspiration appealed more to mankind than do individual rights and liberties.

We who saw Europe liberated know that the Communistic fear that men will cling to freedom is well founded. It is possible that this truth may be the reason for what appears to be an aggressive intent on the part of the Communists to tear down all governmental structures based upon individual freedom.

If the men and women of America face this issue as squarely and bravely as their soldiers faced the terrors of battle in World War II, we would have no fear of the outcome. If they will unite themselves as firmly as they did when they provided, with their allies in Europe, the mightiest fighting force of all time, there is no temporal power that can dare challenge them. If they can retail the moral integrity, the clarity of comprehension, and the readiness to sacrifice that finally crushed the Axis, then the free world will live and prosper, and all peoples, eventually, will reache a level of culture, contentment and security that has never before been achieved.

This is the final instalment of General Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe."

Welfare Executive Urges Wider Recreation Program

When recreation organizers met to discuss plans for improving their services they often did not take into account library services, art galleries, museums and other quite important leisure-time programs, E. R. McEwan, secretary of the Recreational Division of the Canadian Welfare Council, said here today.

Mr. McEwen said the only method of planning an all-round recreational program to benefit the whole community was to consolidate all recreational bodies under one organization.

The recreational division was formed for this purpose, Mr. McEwan said. It provided information, reference and technical services to all persons interested in recreation.

Mr. McEwan is conducting a survey of recreational activities throughout Canada. Today he conferred with recreational leaders in Victoria, including Dr. Henrietta Anderson, director of the Greater Victoria Recreational Council, and Education Minister W. T. Straith.

ON THE INCREASE

Public recreational services were on the increase throughout the Dominion, Mr. McEwan said.

"Nearly every municipality in Canada is working on some scheme for improving their recreation services," he said. "Before the war there was a mere handful of public recreation workers employed in Canada."

However, due to the lack of funds, Mr. McEwan said it was not proving practical to build separate recreational halls. This had resulted, he added, in people realizing the value of a closer tie-up between school and community life.

He said the use of school buildings for recreation was now the most practical way for a community to extend its recreation facilities. Throughout Canada schools were not being used as recreational centres.

Mr. McEwan predicted, however, that in another 50 years or so there would be no schools as they are known now. Instead each community would have its public services centre, providing under one roof education, health and welfare services and recreation facilities for all the people living in the neighborhood.

Seek Hit-Run Driver

Saanich police are on the lookout for a car which sideswiped a car driven by Frederick Winterburn, 565 Marifield Avenue, around 12.20 Sunday morning on Douglas Street at Boleskine Road and kept on going.

Constable Robert Coleman said Winterburn was going south and the other car north on Douglas. Damage to the Winterburn car iss estimated between $75 and $100.

A copy of the minutes of the second annual general meeting of the Trans-Canada Highway System Association (Yellowhead Route) was received at the City Hall today.

U.E.F.B. Tag Day Realizes $1,897 For Food Parcels

The sum of $1,897.26 was realized throughout Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt Saturday, in the tag day for the United Emergency Fund for Britain.

Officials of the U.E.F.B. committee today expressed satisfaction with the results, taking into consideration the weather and the number of appeals that have been before the public in the past months. Proceeds in the city were $1,557.11; in Oak Bay, $250.15, and in Esquimalt $90.

A mammoth parade, organized by the Victoria Order of Eagles, was staged in the downtown area Saturday afternoon, starting at Broughton and Blanshard Streets and proceeding down Fort Street onto Douglas. The parade stopped in front of the City Hall, where Mayor Percy George and Brig. W. G. Colquhoun, U.E.F.B. chairman for Victoria spoke briefly, urging support of the fund. Hundreds lined the streets for the parade.

"Let us remember that just eight years ago today, the Battle of Britain was being waged," Mayor George said. "Britain is now conducting another battle of her own and needs food. Let us show our appreciation to Britain by making this a truly, worthwhile effort."

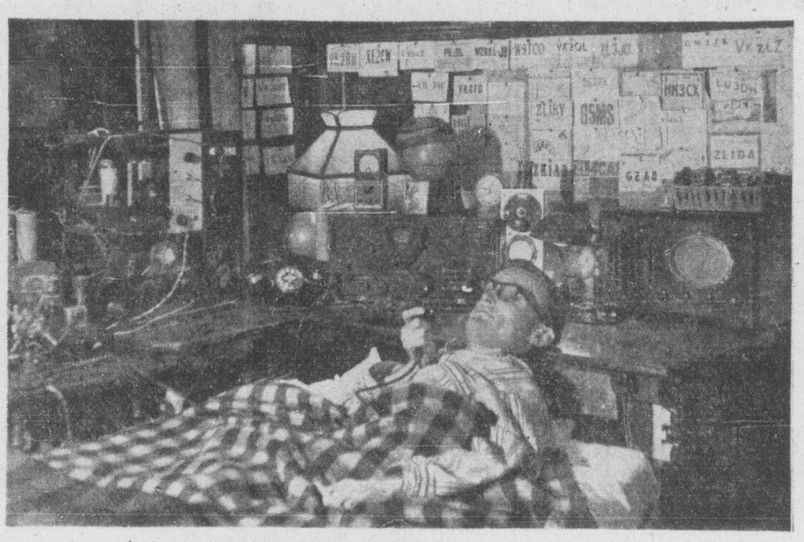
Brig. Colquohoun paid tribute to all those who participated in the day's activities with special mention for the women who stood in the cold winds and rain to tag. Proceeds will be used to send food parcels to the United Kingdom. Transportation costs for food will be paid by the British government.

Participating in the parade were: Victoria Motorcycle Club, Mayor George and Brig. Colquhoun in a special car, Royal Canadian Sea Cadets and members of Victoria Girls' Drill Team. In the marching units were: Eaglettes, Eagles Ladies' Marching Corps, Oak Bay Girls' Drill Team, Victoria Boy Scouts and Knights of Pythias Girls' Drill Team.

Providing music were the Sea Cadets' Band, Eagles' Drum and Bugle Band, Victoria Girls' Pipe Band, Eagles' Boys' Drum and Bugle and the Rowles Boys' Band.

E. W. White, district horticulturist, will discuss the pruning of fruit trees, before the meeting of the Victoria Horticultural Society at the City Hall on Tuesday evening. Mr. White will demonstrate top and root pruning on a young tree, and will answer questions covering grafting, dormant spraying and general care of fruit trees.

Test Emergency Communications In Victoria Disaster Rehearsal



One of the two stations which maintained contact with the outside world during the Sunday test of emergency communications in this area was the home of Allan Pratt, 97 Cook Street. Mr. Pratt, above, is crippled and confined to his bed at home a good deal of the time. During the test he received messages from a mobile unit at his home and broadcast them to the mainland.

The Red Cross Lodge station in operation. Messages were sent from here by veterans to friends across the Dominion and U.S. Standing, left to right: Mrs. C. D. Pfender, vice-chairman of the lodge; Mrs. O. B. Richards, resident supervisor; L. Smith, patient, and Don Vaughan-Smith of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals. Seated, left to right: Capt. A. E. Sharing, a lodge patient; Clarence Ferris, at microphone, and Ron Hough, Victoria Short Wave Club.

What would happen in this area if disaster struck and wiped out existing communications with the outside world?

The answer was given Sunday as the Victoria Emergency Corps sponsored a test of emergency communications set up under Capt. R. V. Parrett, 5th Regiment, co-ordinator, and Lieut. A. Stewart, Canadian Scottish, war liaison officer with the Red Cross.

Using emergency power, radio men set up a system of contacts which would protect the essential needs of this area if a disaster occurred.

Control was situated at the Bay street Armories and other emergency stations were set up at Red Cross Headquarters, the Red Cross Lodge at Jubilee Hospital and at the police station.

At two Victorians' homes, other stations were set up to send and receive messages between here and mainland points.

One outside contact station was set up at the home of Allan Pratt, and the other at the home of G. Clark. Two mobile units, one manned by G. M. Haines, and another manned by Bill McKay and C. P. Rendle, took the messages from Victoria to the outside world and handed them over to Mr. Pratt and Mr. Clark who immediately broadcast the messages over to the mainland.

To simulate the many messages which would crowd in on this emergency set-up during a time of real disaster a station set up at the Red Cross Lodge, took messages from veterans and broadcast them to friends throughout North America.

The results of this action were so successful that the emergency corps has been asked to set up a regular station at the lodge so that the veterans can send out Christmas messages to their homes.

The corps, a group of licensed radio amateurs, is sponsored by the American Radio Relay League, at Hartford, Conn.

Among those taking part in the Sunday test were members of the corps, the Reserve Army, the Red Cross and members of the Victoria Short Wave Club.

Cars driven by Walter J. Clubb, 579 Newport Avenue, and John R. Donahue, 1498 Dallas Road, collided Sunday afternoon at Pandora Avenue and Blanshard Street, city police said. The Clubb car was reported to be considerably damaged.

Weather May Force Candidate Out Of Esquimalt Election

Today's London Weather is figuring in the Esquimalt municipal election this year.

W. H. Dallaway, 385 Lampson Street, an unsuccessful candidate in the Esquimalt elections a year ago, is scheduled to leave London tonight to fly back to Canada—weather permitting.

A repetition of the recent series of dense fogs in southern England may force cancellation of the flight and eliminate Mr. Dallaway from the municipal contest.

If the flight takes off on schedule, the candidate for councillor will arrive in Montreal Tuesday morning and in Vancouver Wednesday. He should arrive in the city late Wednesday or early Thursday.

He has until 2 Thursday afternoon to file his nomination papers.

Others seeking to fill the three council seats to be vacated are: Mrs. Annie McVie, 922 Lyall Street; E. M. Briggs, 790 Dominion Road; John E. Carey, 505 Admirals Road, and councillors A. C. Wurtele and J. A. Ellis, who are seeking re-election.

Councillor Alex Speirs will not run.

Other candidates for Esquimalt posts are Commissioner D. W. Barker who will seek re-election to the police commission and Trustee Benjamin Caley who will run for retention of his post on the Greater Victoria School Board.

Thieves Go After Service Stations

Thieves were at work during the week-end on more city service stations. Out of three entered $20 in silver was secured from one.

The money was taken from a cash drawer in the garage at 3001 Douglas Street, C. Stables told city detectives. Nothing has been reported missing from Jones Bros. Service Station at Yates and Quadra, or from Hughes' Motors, 1321 Quadra Street, which were entered.

In the Douglas Street and Jones premises entry was gained by breaking glass out of front doors to enable release of locks inside. A board covering a window was knocked out of the rear door at Hughes' Motors to enable entry.

Detroit Scores Double Win; Toronto Triumphs

Kenny Reardon's elbow might have something to do with Boston Bruins still being in front in the National Hockey League.

The Montreal defenceman used his elbow illegally last night, got a penalty and Bruins whipped in two quick goals to win 2 to 1 and keep their slim lead.

It was a game that Bruins needed. Detroit had beaten them 3 to 2 Saturday, following it up with a 3 to 1 win over New York Sunday, and finished their week-end two points back of Boston.

Chicago Black Hawks and Toronto Maple Leafs split their two games and wound up still tied for fourth place. Chicago won 6 to 4 in Toronto Saturday and Turk Broda got his third shutout of the year in Chicago Sunday as Leafs beat Hawks 2 to 0.

Rangers dropped their other week-end game 3 to 1 to Canadiens, who now are a single point ahead of Chicago and Toronto.

Canadiens seemed on their way to their first win over Boston this year when Reardon's penalty was called in the final minute of the second period. They had gone ahead on Elmer Lach's goal from Hal Laycoe early in the period.

	W.	L.	T.	F.	A.	Pts.
Boston	12	4	2	61	38	26
Detroit	11	6	2	61	46	24
Canadiens	7	7	4	44	32	18
Chicago	8	11	1	60	82	17
Toronto	6	9	5	49	57	17
Rangers	3	10	4	36	56	10

Murray Henderson tied the score with a 35-foot drive from Pete Babando. Then Henderson led a five-man rush, fired a pass to Ed Sanford and Babando drilled home the rebound for the winning goal.

POILE FIRES WINNER

Bruins lost to Detroit Saturday on Bud Poile's 35-foot drive in the third period. Goals by Bruin Pat Egan and Red Wing Gerry Couture left them tied at the end of the second with scores by Pete Horeck and Poile shoving Detroit ahead. Knobby Warwick came back to score for Boston.

Only Pentti Lund's goal with less than two minutes to play saved New York for a shutout against Detroit last night.

Red Wings went ahead in the first on Marty Pavelich's goal from Ted Lindsay and Sid Abel. In the third Jack Stewart set up goals for Jerry Couture and rookie Jim Enio.

New York's loss in Montreal Saturday brought Canadians back to life after dropping two straight shutouts on home ice. Billy Reay got the winning goal for Dick Irvin's Habitants in the last period and added another one just before the final whistle.

Up to Reay's goal it had been a 1 to 1 tie, with scores by Montreal's Rocket Richard in the second and New York's Edgar Laprade in the third.

CAME FROM BEHIND

Toronto twice blew two-goal leads as they dropped their Saturday game to the fast-skating Hawks. Harry Watson and Bill Ezinicki shot them well ahead in the opening period. They faltered and Gaye Stewart and Jim Conacher had tied the count by the end of the frame.

Ezinicki and Vic Lynn put Toronto ahead again but Doug Bentley, Adam Brown, Stewart and Roy Conacher all counted before the end of the period.

They were two different teams Sunday. A tight Toronto defence gave Broda a quiet night and goals by Cal Gardner and Ted Kennedy sewed it up in the second period.

Three-Way Tie For Ice Scoring Lead

When the firing stopped after a heavy-scoring week-end in the National League, little Grant Warwick, shifty Boston winger, was no longer in sole possession of top place. He now shares it with Chicago snipers Doug Bentley and Jim Conacher.

Bentley picked up a goal and two assists and Conacher grabbed a goal and an assist to move into a three-way tie for the league leadership. Each has 21 points.

Leaders follow:	G.	A.	Pts.
Warwick, Boston	12	9	21
D. Bentley, Chicago	8	13	21
J. Conacher, Chicago	11	10	21
Kennedy Toronto	9	10	19
R. Conacher, Chicago	6	12	18
G. Stewart, Chicago	11	6	17
Babando, Boston	9	8	17
Sandford, Boston	7	10	17

Patton's Century Mark Recognized

NEW YORK (AP)—A 9.3-second performance by Mel Patton of Southern California in the 100-yard dash was approved Sunday as an American record by the United States A.A.U. Patton's clocking, fastest ever recorded for the distance, was achieved at Fresno, Calif., last May 15.

Patton already is co-holder of the currently-recognized world mark of 9.4 seconds.

Dean Brothers Buy Class C Ball Club

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — The Dean brothers, former big league pitchers, Saturday bought the Clovis Pioneers Baseball Club of the class C West Texas-New Mexico League.

Jerome Herman (Dizzy) and Paul (Daffy) Dean purchased the club from the Clovis Sports Association. The price was taking over club indebtedness estimated by the association at $17,000.

Paul Dean will be manager and pitcher.

Foul Bay, Oak Bay Score Victories In Roller Puck League

Foul Bay took the measure of Civil Service, 6 to 4, and Oak Bay edged James Bay, 3 to 1, in yesterday's roller hockey games at Stevenson Memorial Park.

Both games were on the rough side with many penalties being handed out.

Dick Chungranes, Sal O'Connell and Art Ward each scored two goals for Foul Bay with Chungranes adding a pair of assists for high point honors. Tuthill, Pimlott, McBratney and Bob Coates scored for the government squad.

In the Oak Bay triumph, Tyson, Carlow and Glen Murdoch sagged the netting for the winners with Art Harris scoring the lone tally for James Bay.

Next week's games will start at 1 and 2.30 it was announced today. Foul Bay will play James Bay in the first tilt with Civil Service meeting Oak Bay in the second.

Nanaimo Clippers Score Hockey Win

NANAIMO (CP)—Establishing a 3 to 1 lead in the first period, Nanaimo Clippers Saturday night racked up their fifth league win this season defeating Vancouver Indians, 8 to 5, in a Pacific Coast Senior B Hockey League fixture here.

Both clubs scored a pair in the middle session with Clippers getting the odd goal in five last-period markers, to salt the game away.

Clipper Coach Clayton Lavell notched two goals and three assists to aid the winners cause.

Edmonton Flyers Beat Lethbridge

EDMONTON (CP) — The unpredictable Edmonton Flyers today are solidly entrenched in second place in the Western Canada Senior Hockey League by virtue of a 4 to 2 victory Saturday night over the third-place Lethbridge Maple Leafs.

Flyers, playing their fourth game in five nights, drew to within two points of the league-leading Regina Capitals and left Lethbridge trailing five points behind.

Two goals by Andy Clovechok and one by Gord Watt put Flyers out of danger at the end of the first two penalty-ridden periods. Doug Lane sandwiched a fourth marker between two Lethbridge counters in the final frame.

Dehaney Faces Larceny Charge

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Frank K. Dehaney, former Western International League umpire, is being held in San Diego, California, on a warrant from Spokane charging grand larceny by cheque, Detective E. B. Meader said Saturday.

Meader said Dehaney is charged with having passed worthless cheques here last July when he was umpiring games at Ferris Field. He said extradition papers are being prepared.

Dehaney started umpiring in the W.I.L. at the start of the 1947 season and continued until midway in the 1948 season.

Dies At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Charlie Homewood, veteran Vancouver stereotyper and racehorse handicapper, died here Saturday night. He was 66.

Known to the public as "Barry Stevens" through his race selection column, Homewood, worked in British Columbia for almost 50 years. During that time he handicapped more than 14,500 races.

Rookie Comes Through For Boston

Ed Harrison, left, the Mimico, Ont., lad who went up to the Bruins of the N.H.L. from St. Michael's College, has been "discovered" all over again in Boston. He's fitting into the centre ice spot vacated by Milt Schmidt, right, so nicely that Boston hockey writers are reviving that motion to have Milt shifted to a defence position when he recovers from his current injury.

Three Trophy Winners Decided At Gun Club

J. Howard Zaccarelli, Jack Roach and Ted Bailey are three of the "Big Four" 1948 trophy winners of the Victoria Gun Club.

Sunday at the club grounds on Albert Head Road, this trio emerged victorious in keen scattergun duels which marked the closing stages of the season-long trap and skeet silverware chases.

Bailey won the C.I.L. Skeet Shield, Zaccarelli the Humber Handicap Trophy and Roach the Colonist Cup in battles which extended into the dusk. Winner of the Horton Shield for the season's high average has not been determined.

While this action was going on at Albert Head, over on the South Vancouver Island Rangers' acreage off Happy Valley Road, scores of riflemen, archers and trap shooters competed in the club's first annual "open to all" program.

Officials rated the show a marked success. The turnout was good, including Rangers and members of the public. Major feature of the day was the rifle shooting at the 200-yard range, in charge of range boss Jack Stevenson. Jack Miller, head of the archers' group, handled the bow and arrow shooting.

KEEN EVENT

To win the Colonist Cup, Roach found a stubborn opponent in Dib Noble. Seventy-five birds were fired at before the winner was decided.

During the season Roach won two legs of the competition, Noble one. Both still had the final leg to shoot. When they went to the posts the first time, a win for Roach would have ended things there, but Noble tied him at 24-24. In the next round Noble emerged with a 24-23 victory to take the leg. In the final 25-target shootoff, however, Roach only muffed a single bird. Noble failed to shatter three.

In the gun dueling to decide the Humber holder, it was a three-man finish.

Clarke Atchison won the final leg to climb up on an even footing with Ernie Hazenfratz and Zaccarelli. All three had won two legs to force a shootoff. When they went to the posts to decide who should carry home the silverpiece, Zaccarelli won, in a walk. Dusk had arrived before this was finished. Zacarelli cracked 21, Hazenfratz two less and Atchison muffed more than that.

Three finalists went to the skeet posts in the C.I.L. deciding contest.

They were veteran shots Ernie Todd, Henry Pottinger and Bailey, each with two legs to their credit during the year.

Bailey blasted 24 of the 25 birds. Todd was just a point below him and Pottinger finished with a 22.

Next Victoria Gun Club attraction is the open public Christmas program on Dec. 19.

Winners in the Rangers rifle shooting competitions were W. Munroe, J. Jones, W. Leahy, F. Morse, R. Herbertson, A. Sherwin, C. Tubbs, K. Clark, G. Farmer, M. Grossman, J. Noble, R. Noble, W. Scott, J. Roach and R. Marshall.

Herb Shade headed the archery group, while trapshooting winners were J. Zaccarelli, Dib Noble (a three-time winner), T. Bailey, M. Mickleson and J. Watkins.

Oak Bay Blanks Douglas Tire To Tie For Loop Lead

Whipping in three first-half goals Oak Bay intermediate soccer team handed Douglas Tire its first defeat of the season on Saturday afternoon, 3 to 0, and at the same time moved into a tie with Victoria Golds for the league leadership.

Eagles kept pace with the rapidly improving Oak Bay squad by downing the winless Saanich Indians, 3 to 0, to run their point total for the season to eight, three behind the leaders and two in back of third-place Douglas Tire.

Scorers for Oak Bay were Hugh Warrender, Frank Grealey and Doug Betts.

Following the game it was announced that Douglas Tire had protested the disqualification of Mickey Smith by the referee.

Willie Turner counted one goal for Eagles with Harry Turner notching the second. Half-time score was 2 to 0 for the Aerie eleven. Final marker was scored by Ronnie Benn.

Gowan, Scroggs Hold City Golf Buttons

Don Gowan and Frank Scroggs, Uplands, are still holders of the city golf buttons. In a match Sunday, over Uplands, the home club pair defeated Vic Painter and Bill McColl, Colwood, 2 and 1.

Gowan and Scroggs had a best ball of 67 against their opponent's 70.

The next challengers are J. Clark and E. Barber of Gorge Vale.

Legion, Esquimalt Score Soccer Wins

Victoria West, Canadian Legion and Esquimalt were all tied in the second half race of the Victoria and District Football League following a pair of matches Sunday. Esquimalt nosed out Oak Bay 4 to 3 while Legion edged the Wests 2 to 1.

The Legion-Wests engagement saw the clubs battle through a scoreless first half. Early in the second Wests had a good chance to score when Robinson was through but delayed his shot too long and it was blocked. Gordie Duncan put Legion in front with a high lob from well out that caught the top corner.

Wests rallied and 20 minutes later tied the score, left winger Toad Garnet getting in the clear when a Legion defender miskicked and flicking the ball just inside the post from close in. Winning goal for Legion came with five minutes to go. Bland of the Wests putting the ball into his own net in attempting to clear.

The high-scoring Esquimalt-Oak Bay affair produced a lot of good football and the seven goals made matters interesting for the spectators.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

Forcing Oak Bay on the defence in the early stages Esquimalt soon built up a 2 to 0 lead. McCartney opened the scoring after a three-way passing play with Shubrooke and Hayward. Hitting a cross by Shubrooke first time Hayward blasted home the second Esquimalt counter.

After two corners had availed them nothing Oak Bay made a third count, Stan Wiseman heading the ball into the net to make it 2 to 1. A high lob by Shubrooke on a pass from Ed Young was responsible for Esquimalt's third goal to make it 3 to 1 at half time.

A passing play between Musgrave and Hayward early in the second half saw the former boot a shot just under the crossbar to give Esquimalt a 4 to 1 margin.

Oak Bay settled down and got their second score when Ed Young, in attempting to clear, kicked the ball up against his brother Art and it glanced into the Esquimalt net. Before the final whistle Wiseman added his second goal and Oak Bay's third when his low shot slipped through goalie Allan Earl's hands over the line.

Earl, a juvenile player, making his first appearances in senior competition turned in a smart performance for Esquimalt.

Charity Wrestling Card Saturday

Promoter Rocky Brooks will promote a charity wrestling card at the Armories Saturday night. Net proceeds from the show will be turned over to the Solarium. Brooks stated today he had been successful in cutting down considerable of the overhead for the bouts and was confident of being able to turn over a tidy sum to the crippled children as a Christmas present.

Although the card is not arranged Brooks has been able to secure the services of Jack Kiser and Billy Varga who treated the fans to such a smart exhibition on the last show. Their opponents will be announced later.

Earth Rumbles After Notre Dame Tied By Trojans

LOS ANGLES (AP) — Notre Dame's mighty Irish were held Saturday to a 14 to 14 tie by Southern California's Trojans and 10 minutes after the game a real quake shook huge Memorial Coliseum.

Mother nature's shuddering all but matched the rumbling events in the vast concrete bowl as 100,571 fans saw the unbeaten Irish lucky to escape with a deadlock.

The tie was gained in the final 30 seconds of this 20th renewal of the Irish-Troy series.

The tie, which brought an end to a 21-game all winning streak for the Irish, was one of three major games on the final regular United States college football Saturday of 1948. All that remains are major bowl games and post-season all-star encounters.

Alabama trounced Auburn 35 to 0 and Clemson closed out an all-winning year by shutting out the Citadel, 20 to 0.

BEAT THE CLOCK

Notre Dame got its tie in a race with the clock, preserving its record of no defeats in 28 games during a three-year span.

In the final minute of the game, 170-pound Bill Gay took a Trojan kickoff and raced it back 87 yards before he was hauled down on the Trojan 13-yard line.

Bobby William sneaked up toward the goal for five yards. He passed to Gay in the end zone. It was incomplete. He passed again to Gay, and interference was called on a Trojan defensive man, Gene Beck.

Notre Dame got up to the one-yard line. The Trojans fought furiously. Fullback Panelli managed to get two feet.

Then Squat Emil Sitko went over for the tieing touchdown. Steve Oracko calmly kicked the point that gave the Irish the tie.

St. George's Edge University Ruggers

St. George's School of Vancouver defeated University School, English ruggers, 3 to 0, Saturday in the first game of the annual home-and-home series between the two schools.

University School had an edge in the first half but close marking by the visitors prevented any scores. St. George's scrum half scored the only try of the match in the first half

WIN BIKE RACE

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Danish-Belgian team of Arne Pedersen and Emile Bruneau lapped the field Saturday night to win Washington's first international six-day bike race before 600 fans, the largest crowd of the meet.

Heaney's Take First Half With Win Over Esquimalt

Heaney's maintained an undefeated record for the season and walked off with first-half honors in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association's first division yesterday with a 3 to 1 victory over Esquimalt Meat Market.

Veterans of France blanked Jubilee Pharmacy 6 to 0 in the other first division match while in a second division contest Grenek's Service Station walloped Sea Cadets, 10 to 0.

Cedric Robb scored a pair of goals for Heaney's with Bruce Madeley getting the other marker. George Caldwell counted Esquimalt's lone goal. Jack Wright, Gordon Harvey and Lionel Smith turned in sound games for Esquimalt, the only team to score on Heaney's in the first half of play.

Bobby Rowe, Peter Clothier and Bobby Clarke each got a brace of goals in the Vets of France triumph. Berlyn Hodges assisted on every marker.

Jack Menzies rapped in four of the Grenek's 10 goals. Nelson Crisp got two, Dick Pollard a pair and Ken Barnes and Carlsen singletons.

Indian Woman's Hair-Pulling Act Panics Fans At Wrestling Bouts

Wrestling fans who turned out for Saturday's high-class card at the Armories had a number of added thrills thrown in for their entertainment. Sharing the spotlight with the grapplers were a number of enthusiastic Braves from the Saanich Reservation on hand to watch their idol Chief Thunderbird in action.

The red men lost little time taking over. In the opening bout between Chico Garcia and Cliff Parker, a wildly excited Indian woman scrambled up to the apron of the ring and started to yank at Garcia's hair after he had been tossed over the top of the ropes. It took the combined efforts of her husband and a couple of ushers to get her back into her seat.

A pair of the Chief's relatives, and he seems to have no end of cousins and brothers, were in and out of the ring during Thunderbird's match with the veteran Abe Yourst, a polished performer from Brooklyn. Remainder of the crowd took it all in good part and seemed to appreciate the added excitement.

REFEREE GETS WORKOUT

The Parcia-Parkins bout saw Referee Reg Hopkins get every bit as good a workout as the two grappliers. At one time the official went rolling out of the ring along with Parker while another occasion saw him on the mat as Garcia got him into a scissors hold. Parker took the opening fall in the second round with a stepover toehold following a series of half Nelsons. Garcia squared matter with a fall in the third after punishing Parker with several armlocks. Then the boys started to get rough and Parker was awarded the winning fall on a foul.

After Yourst, who sports a big bald spot, evidence of his advanced years, had dampened the enthusiasm of the Indian fans, by taking the first fall with a body press after a number of shoulder butts, Thunderbird came back to gain successive falls with leg locks. On each occasion the Chief got so tangled up with his opponent that Referee Hopkins and several of the fans spent considerable time untangling the pair.

FAST BOUT

Jack Kiser and Billy Varga, the main eventers, treated the fans to some real wrestling. Both fast and clever they were in and out of holds in lightning fashion. A pair of real athletes their bout was a treat to watch. Kiser gained the first fall with a body press following a crushing drop kick that loosened several of his opponent's front teeth. Varga evened matters with a cradle hold after tossing Kiser around with several flying mares. A body slam earned Varga the deciding fall.

Citation Assured Race At Tanforan Saturday

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP)—Shannon II. may not be around but Citation won't win the $0,000 added Tanforan Handicap Saturday in an unopposed walkover.

Definitely listed as starters in the mile and a quarter classic are the four-year-old colt, Stepfather and Happy Issue, eight-year-old-mare.

The high-weighted E. O. Stice and Sons' California-bred. On Trust, considered Citation's greatest threat, appears a "highly probable" participant. On Trust spots the Calumet farm flyer one pound from his top parcel of 124 pounds. Another probable entrant is the five-year-old-gelding, Cash Reward.

Fence-sitters still preparing for the race but remaining in the "possible" category are Please Me, See-Tee-See and Sandman with Tropical Sea listed as doubtful.

Definitely out are Shannon II, Boss, Class Day and Quarter Pole. Shannon II. was declared out this week by his new owners who say they plan to retire the Australian horse to Kentucky and use him for stud purposes.

HORSE OF YEAR

NEW YORK (AP)—To the surpise of no one who follows horse racing, Citation today was named "Horse of the Year" in the annual poll conducted by the Baltimore racing publication, Turf and Sports Digest.

'Y' Swimmers Score Impressive Victory Over Washington Club

Making a clean sweep of the final five events on the program, Archie McKinnon's Flying "Y" swimmers Saturday night defeated the Washington Athletic Club by a 63 to 37 point margin in the first international gala of the season at the Crystal Garden.

Bill Doddridge, a relative unknown in the ranks of the "Y" insofar as international competition is concerned was the lad who gave the "Y" the boost it so badly needed when trailing the Washington team, 35 to 22 halfway through the meet.

Doddridge surprised the good gathering by taking an early lead in the 200-yard freestyle and going on to defeat Dick Elliott, W.A.C.'s junior star. Stan Powell caught Elliott in the last lap to finish second.

Little Norma Stewart also pulled a mild surprise in the 50-yard breaststroke by defeating Joan Morgan and Ian Salmon to give the local club all the points for the event.

JUBB DOUBLE WINNER

Only double winner for the "Y" was Eric Jubb who notched victories in the 50-yard backstroke and 50-yard breaststroke. Jubb took an early lead in the backstroke race to nose out Elliott with Inglis of the "Y" coming in third. In the breaststroke event Jubb again pulled away in the first few yards to defeat teammate Doug Stewart, Canadian junior record holder.

The Flying "Y" also took both freestyle relays. Jubb was a standout for the locals in the men's 200-yard affair, as it was his great spurt in the third lap that gave the "Y" its winning margin.

PAT FAIR OUTSTANDING

W.A.C. made a sweep of the women's 50-yard freestyle with Pat Fair, Jean Christianson and Barbara Rovig finishing one, two, three. Miss Fair captured her second triumph of the evening in the 100-yard freestyle with Miss Christianson again taking the runner-up position.

The medley relays were split with Washington taking the women's event and the "Y" the men's affair.

Al Patnik, who announced following the gala that it was his last public appearance, treated the spectators to a beautiful exhibition of diving.

Goblins Capture City Grid Title

Wally Smith's Oak Bay Goblins captured the city junior Canadian football championship in grand style yesterday by trouncing the Canadian Scottish gridders, 25 to 0.

It was the second straight victory in the best-of-three series, Oak Bay having won the first game last week, 17 to 0.

Scots Rally To Earn Tie With Undefeated College

A scrappy Canadian Scottish fifteen scored an unconverted try midway through the second half to hold the undefeated Victoria College squad to a 6 to 6 tie in the opening game of the second half of the English rugby schedule at Macdonald Park Saturday.

Played before a mere handful of wind-blown spectators, the game was dominated by the fine backfield play of the College team which held a wide margin of play only to bump into a determined Scottish defence when in scoring territory.

Scots grabbed a 3 to 0 lead early in the first half with Cripps falling on a loose ball following a scrum close to the Collegians' line. Scottish forwards pushed the College scrum back over the line. The conversion attempt by Harry Olson was wide as he failed to allow for the stiff breeze.

Students' first score came about half way through the period when Stu Wismer carried the ball over following a three-quarter movement started by Roger Ross. The conversion attempt failed.

PENALTY GOAL

Before halftime, Pete Powell put the Students in front with a drop kick penalty goal from 15 yards. Scots missed a great chance to knot the count just before the intermission when Olson's penalty kick just missed the upright. One linesman waved the kick good but the referee ruled otherwise.

Scots' tying score came against the run of the play and on the soldiers' one scoring chance in the second half. Jim Robertson went over the line following a five- yard scrum. Powell of College missed what would have been the winning goal late in the game when his kick directly in front of the posts was blown wide.

SECOND DIVISION

In second division play Oak Bay Wanderers spanked the Fifth Regiment team, 22 to 3, and Canadian Services edged J.B.A.A., 5 to 3.

The Oak Bay victory was highlighted by the kicking of big John Olson, who split the posts on four of five attempts against a squally wind.

The soldiers scored first on a penalty kick and managed to hold Oak Bay in check for the first half, reaching the intermission on the short end of a 5 to 3 count. However, in the second half Oak Bay took charge and scored three tries, two by Irving Young and one by Blair Eaton. Olson converted one try and added two penalty goals.

Services College spotted J.B.A.A. a 3 to 0 lead early in the first half and then came from behind to win on Frank Trebell's try and a convert by Noel Lyons.

BAYS BEATEN

In a third division game Navy downed the J.B.A.A. squad, 17 to 0. Wooley got four tries for the sailors. Anderson countered the other with Hucker connecting on one convert attempt.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Since television is one subject that will be somewhat hotter than the weather (br-r-r-r) at this week's minor league baseball meetings in Minneapolis, these remarks from a big league executive with more than passing interest in the subject may be of some interest: "I think television gets as many patrons as it diverts."

If baseball people could say failure to televise baseball games would eliminate television entirely, then permission should not be given. This is impossible, since there will be television whether the stations televise baseball or something else. All of us know baseball is the best possible attraction video can offer, but I believe television people are enterprising enough to substitute shows interesting enough to hold plenty of attention. Baseball would lose both the people diverted to their television sets and also would lose the promotional value of constant advertising of their product."

GUESS HE'S OKAY

In addition to Satchell Paige and Larry Doby, the Indians may have a third negro player on their spring training roster, and if you can believe all you hear, he's quite a guy. The player, third baseman, Oreste Minoso, left the New York Cubans for the Dayton (Ohio) Indians, at the end of the 1948 campaign. In 11 games he hit .475, knocked two homers and once stole second, third and home in one game. In the Central League playoffs, Minoso hit better than .300 and three homers.

ENGLAND WINS

LEICESTER, Eng. (AP) — England defeated Scotland 8 to 1 Saturday in first-round play in the European-zone badminton matches for the Thomas Cup.

Canada's Badminton Stars Prepare For Series Against U.S.

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's six-man badminton team today prepared for its second big test in its first hunt for international badminton crown. Canada defeated India 7 to 2 during the week-end in first-round matches for the Thomas Cup.

The Canadians, showing unexpected strength in singles—said to be Indian strong point—swept four of five singles matches and three of four doubles tests.

More confident after their victory, they will fly to Pasadena, Calif., to meet the American team in the second round. They figure they have a "50-50" chance of winning next week-end.

Ten countries are out after the cup and the world's team title, with the finals scheduled for England Feb. 25-26.

Canadian strength was apparent Friday night before approximately 1,500 persons at Toronto's downtown Carleton Club when they walked off with three of four matches.

Needing only two wins to cop the series, Birch and Samis clinched the verdict in the first two singles played Saturday.

Birch won his first set handily, beating Lewis 15-7, but was extended in the second set after the pair battled to a 14-14 tie. He swept the next three points to win 17-14.

SAMIS OUTSTANDING

Samis, runner-up to Birch in this year's Canadian singles, was easily the most effective player on this team. After dropping his first set to Mohan, India's ace, by a 15-4 count, he came back to sweep the next two by 15-7 and 15-10 scores.

Another Vancouver player, Daryl Thompson, dropped his first game Saturday to Henry Ferriera of Bombay by a 15-5 score, but rallied brilliantly to take the next two—15-12, 15-7.

Gordon Simpson, 24-year-old Montreal University student and Quebec singles champion, teamed with Birch to beat Balal Ullal and Dattau Magve 5-15, 18-16, 15-5.

The Canadian doubles champions, Ted Pollock of Toronto and Roy Smith of Woodstock, Ont., lost 9-15, 18-16, 10-15 to Mohan and Lewis.

Joe Jordan's Late Goal Beats United

Victoria United passed out of the picture as far as the second half title in the Coast League soccer race is concerned by dropping a 2 to 1 decision to Vancouver City here Saturday. The match, played in a howling wind, attracted around 800 fans who saw some good football in the second half. City went to the dressing room at half-time enjoying a 1 to 0 edge.

It was the second successive setback for the United in the second half and left them with little hope of ever getting close to the top. Defeat at the hands of the City crew marked a new low for the locals and it was the first time this season they have gone under before that particular mainland outfit.

Kicking with the wind in the first half the United were at a complete loss. The players just couldn't adjust their play to suit the conditions with the result the City commanded most of the offensive. The second half was a different story but the Victoria forwards just refused to capitalize on their many scoring opportunities and the result was a defeat with the winning goal coming five minutes before the final whistle.

CITY SWITCHES LINE-UP

Making their first start under Manager Murray West the City presented a shuffled line-up with Fred Whittaker moved from his centre-forward position to centre-half and fullback Dick Kenning taking over the pivot spot. Forward Dennis Rogers took over at right back and turned in a creditable performance.

The same could be said for the United. The club started off with George Forbes at one of the inside berths and Dick Bell on the right wing. Billy Hope took over at centre-forward to replace the missing Joe Robbins. In the second half Nip Sage went on for Dick Bell and Ab Travis moved into inside left. Forbes dropping back to replace Al Boyd at left back. Later Dave Huggins replaced Hope who was injured in a scramble with Whittaker.

Completely at sea in the first half the United were fortunate in finishing the opening 45 minutes only one goal down. The only score came after 10 minutes. Kenning firing the ball past goalie Joe Travis when Syd Robbins stumbled on the ball in attempting to clear. Shortly after Dick Morton rattled the Victoria crossbar and Alan Sawyer blasted the rebound over the bar.

TIE SCORE

After five minutes' play in the second half United were on even terms. Hope stole the ball from Whittaker, passed to Travis who shot for goal and Sage carried it into the net although it appeared Travis' effort was ticketed. United missed a real chance to go ahead when awarded a penalty for Rogers' clicking Noel Morgan's heels. Gordie Bell failed to even hit the goal from the spot. Shortly after both Travis and Huggins failed to convert a perfect cross from Sage with goalie Raffle at their mercy.

Winning goal came as a surprise. Halfback Joe Jordan sent in a high shot from outside the penalty area that the wind carried into the far top corner.

Match scheduled on the mainland between St. Andrews and New Westminster Royals was postponed owing to weather conditions.

Esquimalt, Aces In Senior B Cage Tilt

Esquimalt and Brentwood Aces will meet tonight at 9 in the men's senior B feature of the three - game basketball card at the High School gym.

Mount Tolmie junior boys play Elks in the opening game at 7 while one hour later Comets meet Eaglettes in a senior women's clash.

Draws Five-Year Hockey Suspension

MONTREAL (CP) — Marius Groleau, high-scoring Quebec Citadels forward, was suspended Saturday from organized hockey for five years when he admitted to officials of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association that he was over the 20-year age limit for junior hockey.

The Citadels also were ordered to forfeit 13 games in which Groleau participated.

Groleau, who led the J.A.H.A. scoring parade until he was benched last week by Citadel manager Frank Byrne, appeared before association officials and admitted that he had submitted his dead brother's birth certificate instead of his own. He also told officials that he played last season while overage.

PORTER—On Dec. 4, 1948, at the family residence, 668 Dallas Road, Henry Augustus Porter, in his 79th year, second son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porter; born in Saanich, and resident here all his life. Survived by his loving wife, Hilda; one sister, Mrs. J. W. Sangster, Currie Road, Oak Bay, and one brother, George A. Porter, Elk Lake. He was a member of the I.O.O.F. and also A.F. & A.M., Scottish Rite.
Complying with his wishes, the funeral will be strictly private. Ven. Archdeacon R. Connell officiating. No flowers, by request, either to the funeral parlor or to the residence. Cremation. Ashes to be scattered on the hills of the family farm at Burnside, where he was born. Hayward's B.C. Funeral Co. Ltd., directors.

RANDELL—There passed away on Dec. 5, 1948, at 63 Gorge Road, Mrs. Fanny Randell, in her 85th year, she was born in England and had been a resident of Victoria for the past 10 years. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. George Chessum of Los Angeles, Calif.; also nephews and nieces.
Funeral service will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 8, at 2.30 p.m. in the Meeting Room, 759 Kings Road. Interment in the Colwood Burial Park. The Thomson Funeral Home have charge of the arrangements.
(No flowers, by request.)

SPEARIN—On Dec. 5, 1948, at St. Joseph's Hospital, Gerald J. Spearin, aged 88 years, husband of Jessie Spearin of 840 Cowper Street, born in St. Mary's, Ont., and a resident of Sidney, V.I., for 32 years before coming to Victoria four years ago.
Funeral service will be held on Tuesday at 3 p.m. from McCall Bros.' Floral Funeral Chapel. Rev. Canon T. M. Hughes will officiate. Cremation.

TURTON—Suddenly at the family residence 824 Tolmie Avenue, on Sunday, Dec. 5, 1948, James Turton, aged 67 years, born in Hants, Eng., and a resident here for the past 40 years. He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, Maria, at home; one daughter, Mrs. G. L. (Eva) Curry of Victoria; three grandchildren; also brothers and sisters in England. He was predeceased by his only son, Jack, in 1929. The late Mr. Turton had been associated with the Victoria Citadel Corps of the Salvation Army for 40 years and at the time of his passing was Acting Corps Sergeant-Major.
Funeral service will be held on Wednesday at 2 p.m. from the Salvation Army Citadel, 757 Pandora Avenue, Sergt.-Maj. Fred Howlett will officiate, after which interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park. McCall Bros., Funeral Directors.

WESTRUP—At Royal Jubilee Hospital on Dec. 5, 1948, Augustus Henry Westrup, aged 79 years, of 953 Wilmer Street, born in England and a resident of Comox for 26 years before moving to Victoria 12 years ago. He was predeceased by twin sisters, the late Mrs. Charles H. Pigott of Victoria, and Mrs. Charles Scharff of Millet, Alta. Surviving are nephews and nieces, including Maurice and Arthur Pigott of Victoria, Percy Pigott of Courtenay, V.I. and Muriel of Shawnigan Lake.
Funeral from McCall Bros.' Floral Funeral Chapel Tuesday at 1.30 p.m. Interment in Colwood Burial Park.
(No flowers, by request.)
(Courtenay papers, please copy.)

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Foxall, Jean, Ron and Mary wish to thank their many friends for the kind expressions of sympathy and floral tributes during their recent sad bereavement in the loss of a loving husband and father. Special thanks to the doctors, nurses and staff of the Veterans' Hospital.

New C.P.R. Vessels To Augment Service Out Of Nanaimo

The Nanaimo-Vancouver service will be augmented with the arrival on the B.C. coast of the C.P.R.'s two new coast passenger ships, Princess Marguerite and Princess Patricia, Capt. O. J. Williams, B.C. Coast Steamships Service manager, announced today.

In a breakdown of the triangle run schedule, the Marguerite and Patricia on alternate nights will go to Nanaimo rather than berthing in Vancouver overnight.

Passengers and their automobiles will be able to board the boat at Nanaimo at 10 at night and the passengers may sleep aboard overnight, sailing for Vancouver at 7.30 in the morning.

This arrangement will allow the C.P.R. to carry another 80 automobiles and sleep 100 passengers on the Nanaimo-Vancouver service, but will make no difference to service out of Victoria.

Capt. Williams said there was nothing definite on reports that another fast ship for the Nanaimo-Vancouver service is expected to be ready by 1950. According to one report, this ship would be designed to make the trip in two hours flat and carry more than 125 automobiles.

Two Die, Three Hurt In Train-Car Crash

ALLDERSYDE, Alta. (CP) — Two persons were killed and three others injured Saturday night in a level crossing accident one-half mile north of here.

Dead are William Storey Pearce of De Winton, Alta., and his four-year-old daughter Dolores. In hospital are Mrs. Pearce and her two sons Neil, nine, and Richard, three months. The baby escaped with minor injuries, but hospital authorities reported Neil still was unconscious almost 24-hours after the accident. Mrs. Pearce suffered severe body lacerations.

Malcolm Sim of Naval Motor Transport Takes His Austin A40 on a Fishing Trip

Mr. Sim left Victoria on Sept. 14 equipped with his fly rod, an axe and chains.

He kept a log of his trip from which we quote:

"After passing through the customs at Blaine at 1.30 p.m. I drove over the Stevens Pass to Wenatchee arriving just before dark, ascending the pass at 40 miles per hour.

"Two days later I was fishing in the Windermere Valley in a mountain stream above the village of Wilmer. I could never have driven a larger car up the old mining trail and was obliged to use both axe and chains.

"My next stop was at a ranch on the Blindman River, 100 miles northeast of Calgary and later drove out from Calgary for a golf match at Banff with snow falling, and on to the upper Hot Springs for a swim, arriving back in Calgary for supper. I then negotiated the Big Bend for more fishing near Revelstoke. From there to Sicamous I tried out the car for speed and reached an all high of 72.50 miles per hour.

"More fishing in the lakes above Oyama, an almost perpendicular climb. A few days stopover in Penticton and then home via Kamloops and the Fraser Canyon, reaching Victoria on Oct. 5."

Total mileage 2,640, gas and oil consumed 75.25 gallons, an average of over 35 miles per gallon.

Thomas Plimley Ltd., local Austin Agents, wish Mr. Sim many more years of good fishing and carefree motoring. ***

Stranded By Storm On Island, Hunters Make Own Way Back

"We had quite a time of it and won't do that again in a hurry," said Syd Jenkins, 1750 Hampshire Road, who with his son, Daryl, became stranded for hours on Seagull Island, southwest of Discovery Island, due to stormy seas Saturday night and Sunday morning.

After a last fling at duck-hunting before the season closed at sunset Saturday night, the father and son returned to John Bowker's Oak Bay Boathouse in their craft about 1 Sunday morning.

They left the boathouse at 11 in the morning. At that time things were quiet. Some time after they had reached the island the storm broke, making it impossible for them to return.

To signal Mr. Bowker on shore that they were safe, Jenkins lighted a huge bonfire in a spot that was least affected by the wind and kept feeding it drift wood for hours.

Mr. Jenkins said he waited until the tide was out and the wind not so fierce to make the return trip to the boathouse in their double-ended rowboat.

"It was tricky going, but we finally managed to make it," Mr. Jenkins said. They reached the boathouse about 1 in the morning.

After the fire was spotted from the Oak Bay Boathouse, the Provincial Police and Pilotage were contacted. They reported rescue attempts were impossible because of the mountainous waves.

Teresa Wright, Ray Milland In Comedy

The screen love-life of Ray Milland and Teresa Wright does not run smoothly—in comedy or in drama.

Recently co-starred in the melodrama, "The Imperfect Lady," Ray and Teresa are reunited in Paramount's laugh-packed comedy, "The Trouble With Women," which starts today at the York Theatre with Brian Donlevy also starred. In the comedy, as in the drama, Milland and Miss Wright have many romantic ups and downs. Ray is a college professor in "The Trouble With Women," and Teresa a newspaperwoman whose libelous article on Milland's theory about women leads him to sue her paper.

'Henry V' Showing On Odeon Screen

It will be generally acknowledged that Laurence Olivier, in "Henry V," which opens today at the Odeon Theatre, has taken advantage in full of his opportunity both as director and leading actor. Here Henry V lives brilliantly. With utmost reverence for Shakespeare the dramatist and the poet, Olivier has transformed a stage masterpiece into a screen masterpiece. Holding closely to the original, the production has been enriched by ingenious stage "business," new and old, by marvelous Technicolor effects, and by clever and plausible interpretations of the text.

Deafened People May Now Hear Clearly

Science has now made it possible for the deafened to hear faint sounds. It is a hearing device so small that it fits in the hand and enables thousands to enjoy sermons, music and friendly companionship. Accepted by the Council on Physical Medicine of the American Medical Association. This device does not require separate battery pack, battery wire, case or garment to bulge or weigh you down. The tone is clear and powerful. So made that you can adjust it yourself to suit your hearing as your hearing changes. The makers of Beltone, Dept. 6, 1450 West 19th St., Chicago 8, Ill., are so proud of their achievement that they will gladly send free descriptive booklet and explain how you may get a full demonstration of this remarkable hearing device in your own home without risking a penny. Write Beltone today.

THRONE SHINES AS BOOTBLACK STAND—After descending from what is probably the world's gaudiest bootblack stand, a customer is helped on with his coat by Genaro Esposito, enterprising Neapolitan bootblack. The stand is a throne, apparently "liberated" by Esposito, that once stood in the royal palace of Naples. Police wink at his unorthodox use of the ornate relic and even overlook his overcharging.

Drama President Will Quit College Unless Ban Lifted

Robin Terry, president of the Victoria College Theatre, today threatened to quit Victoria College after Christmas unless the faculty lifts a ban on the dramatic club.

"No matter what my standing is after the Christmas examinations, I will leave the College unless this unnecessary and annoying ruling is withdrawn," he stated.

The faculty last week posted a notice on the bulletin board at the College stating the theatre, formerly called the Players' Club, would not be allowed to continue activities for the remainder of the 1948-49 term.

A faculty member said members of the theatre were spending too much time on dramatics and not enough on studies.

He said the groups recent production of four plays was well done, and it was the feeling of the teachers that the club now could "rest on its laurels."

Said Mr. Terry: "If our members' scholastic standing is as low as the faculty's action indicates, we would not be allowed to continue after Christmas anyway, which makes this ban altogether unnecessary."

He explained there is a ruling which states students cannot have extra-curricular activities if their examination marks are not up to a certain percentage.

Mr. Terry thought the theatre members should have been consulted before the ban was posted on the bulletin board.

He said the theatre had made initial plans for a spring production.

The banning of the club is not the only ruling by the faculty about which students are complaining.

A second ruling bans card playing anywhere on the campus.

Here too the faculty is of the opinion students were spending too much time at play and not enough at work.

21-Day-Old Prince Has First Outing

LONDON (AP) — Britain's youngest prince, the 21-day-old son of Princess Elizabeth, got out into the open air for the first time Sunday.

Sister Elen Rowe, his nurse, wheeled him in the garden of Buckingham Palace for half an hour, using a carriage Elizabeth rode in 22 years ago. It was a cloudy but mild day.

Princess Elizabeth did not go out.

ROYAL THEATRE

Young Jane Powell, currently singing her way through M-G-M's latest musical, "Luxury Liner," at the Royal Theatre, enjoys all the glamour of being a screen star between the hours of 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. But the glamour and its accoutrements automatically stop at the stroke of 6. Even Cinderella had until 12!

In films, Jane may be the spoiled daughter of Walter Pidgeon, Jose Iturbi, Wallace Beery or, in the case of "Luxury Liner," George Brent. Her home is a mansion and butlers bow to her every wish, with Irene, M-G-M's top designer, fashioning her ultra-smart clothes.

Early Improvement Fails To Hold

NEW YORK (AP) — An early improvement in the stock market today failed to hold, and prices turned irregular.

The movement was in fractions to around a point in either direction with a few special issues pushing beyond.

The pace of trading accelerated on the rise and dwindled as prices moved lower.

Oils, rails, steels and motors were among the featured groups. Leaders were around a point higher for the most part until late selling cut their gains and reduced a number to the minus side.

Dow Jones closing averages:

Prices Slip After Early Firming

TORONTO (CP) — Prices slipped into easier ground on the Toronto Stock Exchange Monday after an early attempt at firming. Industrials held firm following a dip from morning advances. Golds and base metals sagged and western oils were down.

Selected industrials advanced slightly in dull dealings. Canadian Car was strong following the annual statement and Canadian Breweries and Seagram's gained in the liquor list. Papers and utilities sagged while textiles advanced. Foods were easier.

Toronto averages:
20 industrials 183.23, up 0.06
20 golds 81.14, off 0.41
10 base metals 107.93, up 0.24
15 western oils 57.46, off 0.69
Total sales, 1,037,000.

In a letter received at the city clerk's office today, Saanich informed the city that the question of a grant for the Victoria Memorial Ice Arena would be tabled for consideration by next year's council.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

TALKING TURKEY

UNTIL THE OTHER day a turkey meant just about as much to me as did the primrose to the man who walked besides the river's brim—"a yellow primrose was to him, and it was nothing more."

To me, until last Thursday, a turkey by an oven's rim was just a turkey, nothing more. But not any longer. I now know better.

I have discovered that there are many varieties and breeds, and I made the acquaintance of two of the choicest in the world—Broad-breasted Bronze and Beltsville Whites, both of which are apparently the aristocrats of the dinner table.

BOSOMY BIRDS

THE BIRDS I SAW at the show of the Vancouver Island Turkey Improvement Association were super-duper specimens. In fact they were as much like the ordinary run of turkeys as race horses are to cart horses, as far as breeding is concerned.

But with one difference. The broad-breasted toms are the meatiest I have ever seen, with such bosomy breasts that I felt a little suspicious that they might have been blown up with a tire-pump for the occasion.

As to legs, the champion's were comparable in size to a leg of lamb and would, I am sure, provide just as many succulent servings on somebody's Christmas dinner table.

These turkeys, whose size and meatiness are the result of breeding experiments first instituted by a Fraser Valley farmer with the delightfully appropriate, birdlike name of Throssell, and since developed and improved by Vancouver Island and other growers, attain tremendous proportions.

HEAVYWEIGHTS

THE CHAMPION of Thursday's show weighed 31 pounds. But I learned that these heavyweights run up to as high as 55 pounds—which you will admit is a lot of turkey.

Despite their size, they are as tender as a young chicken because they are reared under conditions which "crib, cabin and confine" them within the bounds of airy coops that prevent them developing their sinews.

And they must be good eating, because no less than 30 tons of these dressed birds were shipped from Vancouver Island to New York this year to grace the tables of Thanksgiving epicures.

SMALLER VARIETY

WHILE THE COLOSSAL carcasses intrigued me by their sheer size, I was more interested—from a culinary standpoint—in the Beltsville Whites, a strain which has been developed to suit the needs of today's smaller families, smaller kitchens and ovens—and, of course, the smaller purchasing power of today's dollar.

They run about nine or ten pounds and seem quite dainty and demure beside the other huge variety. One up-island farm alone has no less than 6,000 of them.

Can you imagine the gobble-gobble chorus, to say nothing of the gobble-gobble intake of such a flock!

DRESSED AND OTHERWISE

I WAS AMUSED to find that the exhibits at the show were described as "dressed." To me, in my ignorance, they appeared very much undressed; in fact, nude. But in poultry parlance you dress a bird by removing all its feathers.

As I came away from that show, chuckling at these entertaining sidelights, I was greatly impressed with another, more sober, aspect. It was this:

Those who are fortunate enough to sit down to a Vancouver Island turkey at Christmas will, at the same time, be helping to build up an industry which has doubled in size over the last three years, an industry which is not only supplying the choicest birds in the world for the American table, but has also shipped 5,000 breeding birds to Washington State and sent 100,000 eggs and poults to the prairies this year.

Thieves who went through the car owned by G. W. Clarke, Sidney, early Sunday morning while it was parked on lower Fisgard Street, got away with a shaving kit containing $12 worth of articles, a flashlight, a $7 hat owned by William Boone, 2466 Epworth Street, and a $17 coat owned by W. Hill, 1190 Fort Street.
